Faces Death Within Year

Pope, Stricken Child Chat In Rare Private Audience

Rome — (U) — Catherine Hudson, a 7-year-old American girl suffering from fatal leukemia, flies home tomorrow with her fondest wish fulfilled. Pope John XXIII gave her an extraordinary, 40-minute private audience.

"We never imagined anything so wonderful," exclaimed Catherine's widowed mother, Mrs. Marlene Hudson of Oklahoma City. "The audience was a miracle, a miracle."

Private papal audiences normally are restricted to diplomats and other high officials. However, Pope Pius XII granted one in July 1957 to Comedian Red Skelton and his 9-year-old son, Richard, who later died of the same blood cancer that has doomed the little Hudson girl. Through interpreters the 78-year-old pontiff chatted with the dark-haired child and showed her around the little throne room of the papal apartment. Catherine wore the white dress and veil in which she made her first communion a year ago. The pope asked about her school and family but never mentioned the illness doctors say will end Catherine's life in little more than a year. "Pray for me," he told her in Italian. "I do," she replied in English.

"Thank you," he said, speaking this time in English, then adding in Italian, "I pray for you."

"Grazie (thanks)," Catherine replied. When Catherine left, she carried the pope's blessing, two of his photographs, a souvenir medal of his pontificate and what is believed to be a relic of Christ's cross.

Her Italian doctor, Gino Frontali, who attended the pontiff, commented to the pontiff, "the faith of this little girl made possible this extraordinary audience." The pontiff replied, "This is a victory. Faith will conquer."

Allied Policy Leaders Hold Pre-Summit Talks

South Africa to Press for More White Immigrants

Government Launches Move to Improve Country's Racial Balance

Johannesburg, South Africa — (U) — The South African government, fully alert to the magnitude of its race problem, announced today it is embarking on a large scale program to bring in white immigrants.

Interior Minister J. F. Naude told parliament the government now considers immigration "of the utmost importance for the union."

The nationalist government has been under fire for years from the opposition for failing to promote immigration and improve the balance of three million whites against 10 million blacks.

Naude denied long standing allegations that the nationalists have impeded immigration by English-speaking people because of the fear they would vote against the nationalist government, run by men of Dutch descent.

Call For Inquiry A spokesman for the opposition to the government of the wounded prime minister, Hendrik F. Verwoerd, called for an inquiry into the basic causes of African discontent. Sir de Villiers Graaff, the united party leader, said he and his followers intend to bring pressure on the government for an investigation of the reasons for Negro unrest once the present state of emergency is ended.

Graaff spoke at a news conference in Cape Town while police pressed further raids for alleged subversives. The cabinet made clear there will be no easing of South Africa's strict segregation policies during the convalescence of Verwoerd.

The united party's chieftain said the proposed inquiry would provide an opportunity for criticism of the government's handling of the present situation.

Both the united party and Verwoerd's dominant national party are for continued white supremacy in South Africa in which 10 million Negroes

Korean Police, Shouting Mob Clash in Seoul

Second Straight Day of Rioting Against Government

Seoul — (U) — Police fired into the air at Masan to stave off a crowd of 10,000 demonstrators against President Syngman Rhee's government. Troops also clashed with a crowd in Taegu. It was the second straight day of anti-government rioting in South Korea.

Shouting slogans, the Masan crowd threatened to break into the police station for the second consecutive night. Police fired about 1,000 rounds over their heads. The crowd retreated a short distance.

400 Policemen A reinforcement of more than 400 armed policemen guarded the station, one of a dozen buildings wrecked by demonstrators Monday night.

One student was killed, several injured and 20 police wounded in the riot that broke out late Monday night in the port city of Masan, 20 miles south of Seoul.

Demonstrators, including groups of high school students, marched up and down the streets of Masan today chanting slogans denouncing the Rhee government. Spectators cheered. Some demonstrators threw stones at the police. The high school students went home.

Then a new crowd gathered in front of the police station, defying a 7 p.m. curfew. The crowd soon swelled to 10,000. Many carried placards.

Issue Blunt Reminder That East-West Problems Won't Be Solved at One Meeting

Washington — (U) — Allied foreign ministers start a round of pre-summit talks today with a blunt reminder that east-west leaders can't hope to settle their bitter disputes at a single conference.

"The road to peace is a long and hard one and no one can now say when the goal will be reached," the state department said in publishing a book of background documents.

The series of meetings opens this afternoon with a strategy session bringing together Sec.

of State Christian A. Herter, British foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Policy Chiefs The three allied foreign policy chiefs, meeting in an atmosphere of low-key optimism, were reported confident they could draft combined proposals their government chiefs will lay before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at next month's Paris summit meeting.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano joins them tomorrow, and the Italian and Canadian foreign ministers will be brought into the disarmament phase of their discussion later. In a deliberate move to curb excessive hope, the state department published a bulky document recalling how the 1955 summit meeting at Geneva failed to break the east-west deadlock. The 478 page book of documents, nearly an inch thick, also recalled the tangle of proposals and counterproposals that led to the decision to have the big four leaders try again in Paris May 16.

Grave Issues With an eye on this second conference, the state department said in a summary: "It would be unrealistic to expect that these grave issues can be resolved at one head-of-government conference."

Unemployment Figures Unemployment rose from 3,931,000 to 4,206,000. Normally, the idle total declines by about 180,000 in March as compared with February.

The figures meant that 94.6 per cent of all Americans seeking work had jobs in March, but that 5.4 per cent of job seekers couldn't find employment.

Seymour Wolfbein, labor department manpower chief, said an indication of the March weather's impact on the job situation was a one million increase in the number of people usually working fulltime who worked only part time during the mid-March survey week. The total of such workers rose to 2,200,000 in March.

Stop Kennedy Move in West Virginia Flares

Efforts in New York to Hold Up Nixon Candidacy Appear to Have Been Beaten

Washington — (U) — Talk of a stop Kennedy movement flared in West Virginia today at the same time talk of a stop Nixon movement seemed snuffed in New York.

In West Virginia, political observers wondered whether a host of Democratic presidential candidates had thrown their support to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in the state's May 10 to primary.

Their aim: To halt the momentum of Sen. John F. Kennedy's drive toward the party's nomination. The Massachusetts senator and Humphrey are the only candidates entered in the primary.

In New York, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller opposed circulation of a letter that belittled the qualifications of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency. Some Republican supporters of Rockefeller had signed the letter.

Nixon, in San Francisco today to open the new baseball season, told a newsman yesterday he was not disturbed by the letter and, in fact, thought it might add spice to the campaign.

Meanwhile, Adlai Stevenson continued to draw support for the Democratic nomination despite his repeated statements that he is not a candidate.

The question of a possible gang-up on Kennedy in West Virginia was raised yesterday by former Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (D-NY), a Kennedy supporter.

In Wheeling, Roosevelt said Kennedy was "running against the combined opposition" of Humphrey, Stevenson, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas), and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

One Opponent Kennedy echoed this at a news conference on the capitol esplanade in Charleston. "Sen. Humphrey and I took the risk of defeat by entering," he said. "It seems to me that I'm entitled to run against one opponent."

Some support for the Kennedy contention came from Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-WV) in Washington. A supporter of Johnson, Byrd announced his backing of Humphrey in the primary in hopes of stopping Kennedy.

But Humphrey denied any gang up.

Another Man Arrested For Turning in False Plane Bomb Report

Indianapolis — (U) — A Lake Central airline plane turned back in flight last night because of a bomb threat, and FBI agents arrested a Michigan City (Ind) man on a charge of making a false bomb report.

The FBI accused Waterman F. Brown Jr., 34, of telling a stewardess aboard flight 724 that he had boarded the plane with a bomb. The plane, en route from Indianapolis to South Bend, returned here for a search, which produced no bomb. It continued to South Bend after the search.

Arrest Five For Ghosting Test Papers

New York — An assistant grammar school principal and five other persons have been arrested on charges of selling academic papers to college students who turned them in as their own work.

Prices for the ghost-written papers went as high as $3,000 for a dissertation aimed at a doctor's degree, Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said.

Out of 25 students who bought the papers — and later testified before a grand jury — nine were public school teachers trying for degrees.

Work on Plan for Quick Capture

Pulaski, Va. — (U) — Besieging police, under scattered gunfire from a young husband holed up for 20 hours in a brick bungalow, sought some way today to get him out without endangering his 10-year-old hostage.

There were reports state police had worked out a plan and requested permission from their Richmond headquarters to put it into operation. They hoped to be able to capture Jack Jennings, 18, without further unnecessary risk to the young girl — his sister-in-law, Barbara Butts.

The decision that something had to be done apparently came after Jennings, unemployed mill hand, shot out an arrow with a note attached, threatening harm — possibly rape — of his sister-in-law if a conference wasn't arranged.

Court Hearing

Jennings fled to the home about two blocks from the downtown business district yesterday afternoon after a court hearing on the relatively minor charge of unauthorized use of an automobile. He forced Barbara to share his refuge while he shouted invectives at surrounding police.

The neat, brick home is owned by his father-in-law, C. W. Butts. It was Butts' car that Jennings was accused of using without permission.

After little activity during the early morning hours, Jennings began the shotgun fusillade about 8:20 a.m. One of the first blasts pinned two photographers behind a tree. Within an hour he had fired a total of 10 shots, keeping police and newsmen at a respectable distance.

It was after the first shots that he fired out the arrow. The attached note read: "How would you all like it if a 10-year-old girl got raped? I don't think you would like it, so let's get somebody out there to talk to me fast."

The note was signed "Jackie."

Jail Record Police Sgt. Charles Comer of Pulaski stood in the open five minutes talking with Jennings. After the conference state police went to Wytheville to return a relative who had talked with Jennings during the night.

Police said Jennings, whose mother died about a year ago, had served time in a Virginia industrial school for statutory rape when he was 14. They said he also had been confined for a time in a Maryland industrial school for some trouble in Washington.

His first shots this morning — fired apparently without any specific target — spattered harmlessly into a vacant lot across the street.

A few minutes later he spotted photographers Doug Lester and Sonny Willis of Christiansburg crouched behind a tree and yelled: "Get the hell out from behind that tree."

Pellets from a shot spattered around the tree, forcing the men to hug the ground. As Jennings reloaded, the two broke to safety.

After he fired the arrow and

Cuban Mountains Hide Trace of Rebel Band

Former Revolution Officer, Followers Castro Regime's First Armed Opponents

Havana — (U) — The Sierra Maestra mountains of east Cuba have swallowed up all traces of a fleeing former revolutionary officer and his band of defectors, regarded by some as the first armed opposition to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime.

Officially headquarters of the Cuban armed forces and the regional military command in easternmost Oriente province said today they had no information on the fugitive, Capt. Manuel Beaton.

Escapes Prison A native of the Sierra Maestra region, where Castro based his successful revolt against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, Beaton headed into the mountains after escaping from a military prison last October.

Earlier reports that armed peasants supporting the Castro regime had surrounded Beaton and his band, estimated to number between 40 and 50, could not be confirmed.

Castro himself was at the Estrada Palma sugar mill, 75 miles west of Santiago and a gateway to the 50-mile-long mountain chain.

Officially Castro was in the area to inspect the sugar mill and rural cooperatives. The semiofficial newspaper Revolution said that Maj. Juan Almeida, chief of the Cuban army, and Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, director of the institute of agrarian reform, were with him.

Exchange Shots Operations of the Beaton band have centered for several weeks around the seacoast village of Uvero in the El Coibre district. It is a settlement of a few houses cut off from the rest of Cuba by dense mountains. The group clashed with Castro military units in Uvero several times and has exchanged rifle fire with patrol boats offshore.

The insurgents last week were reported to have killed a revolutionary major, Francisco Tamayo, who had been assigned to attempt to recapture him.

Jack Jennings, 18, Peers through a broken window from the home in Pulaski, Va., where he is holed up, holding a sister-in-law as hostage. The home belongs to his father-in-law. Jennings shattered the window with a shotgun blast.

Jobless Total Up 275,000 During March

Biggest Increase For Month Since Second World War

Washington — (U) — Unemployment jumped 275,000 in March, the biggest increase for a March since World war II. Employment declined by 253,000.

The labor department reporting these figures today, blamed the darkened job picture almost entirely on heavy snows and generally bad weather in March. It predicted a sharp rebound in April.

Employment dropped from 64,520,000 in February to 64,267,000 in March. Normally, employment increases during March by about 450,000.

Normal Figures Unemployment rose from 3,931,000 to 4,206,000. Normally, the idle total declines by about 180,000 in March as compared with February.

The figures meant that 94.6 per cent of all Americans seeking work had jobs in March, but that 5.4 per cent of job seekers couldn't find employment.

Major Satellite Shots Cost Up To $14 Million

Washington — (U) — The high cost of space exploration was disclosed today by officials of the National Aeronautics and Space administration.

Each major satellite launching by the United States costs between 10 and 14 million dollars.

When the Saturn super booster comes into use several years from now, the price will go up to about $20 million.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of NASA, gave the picture of the economics of space to a house appropriations subcommittee recently. His testimony was released today.

Dryden said NASA's bill for launching a 3-stage Thor-Able rocket — the kind that put the recent Pioneer V and Tiros satellites into orbit — runs about $14 million.

Self-Help Program May be Advocated

Plan Would Give Local Governments Authority to Put Tax Levy on New Sources

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — A self-help program for Wisconsin local governments worried about their financial dilemma may be in the offing.

One of the few principles upon which the Citizens Continuing Revenue Survey commission, working on a blueprint for Wisconsin tax reform, has thus far shown substantial agreement is the need for local property tax relief.

One of the few methods upon which agreement has thus far been shown is through a liberalization of state laws to permit cities, especially, and other local governments to a lesser degree, to broaden their tax bases through levies upon new sources.

Local Problems

"To the greatest practical extent, the cities must be given power to raise funds for purely local problems," said a recent report from a key sub-committee to the parent group, with the apparent approval of the latter.

Such optional local levies would take a variety of forms.

"But high on the list must be enabling legislation to permit local, or county, motor vehicle use fees," the report continued.

"This is a major element of city budgets and the principle has long been accepted in many larger cities of the United States. Funds should be segregated for street and highway maintenance, snow removal, traffic control, parking and related functions," the report advised.

Other local option revenue sources, the study group said, would involve extended use of license fees and franchises for various kinds of regulated businesses, sewer charges, and air-conditioning fees.

Delicate Subject
Possibly because the subject is politically delicate, the committee did not mention the possibility of local income or sales taxes, which also have precedents in other cities in other states.

But the discussions of the study committee thus far make it clear that such possibilities are included within its thinking. Some of the larger communities especially, including those which have substantial portions of their working populations outside the reach of present income and property tax laws because they live in suburbs or elsewhere, might find such auxiliary levies practicable and preferable to still higher property tax burdens, in that view.

Whether the typical city administrations of Wisconsin would welcome such a challenge to their self-reliance is another question.

Organized cities have watched the proceedings of the tax revision group intently for the last year and a half, but such units as the League of Wisconsin Municipalities thus far have been noncommittal.

The history of state-local fiscal relations contains some hints, however, that city governments would prefer state levied auxiliary taxes, with the receipts going to them, to locally initiated and locally administered additional revenue sources.

Prefer State Levy
Aldermen might find it extremely difficult politically, for example, to levy an extra fee of $10 on automobiles of their constituents — to cite the example most often suggested. They would probably prefer to have the state levy the tax, returning the receipts to the localities according to the domicile of the vehicles.

Stevenson Visits

High Style Dinner At Jefferson's Home

Charlottesville, Va. — Not in 136 years has the old house seen anything like this.

Here in Monticello, the beloved home of Thomas Jefferson, Adlai Stevenson dined in high style Monday night. The last similar dinner, according to the curator at Monticello, probably took place in 1824.

That was when Jefferson, old, tired and feeble — held a dinner for General Lafayette on one of his return visits to America. After Jefferson's death in 1826 the house was sold and, while entertaining

State Begins Efficiency Job

Seven Projects Aimed at Better Government Work

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson said Monday the department of administration has undertaken seven new projects designed to improve economy and efficiency in state government.

These are in addition to previously announced projects.

The new list includes:

College Study
Analysis of the long-range building requests of state agencies to coordinate building needs and to update priorities.

Review of space utilization
Studies at the University of Wisconsin and the 10 state colleges.

Study of the organization and programs of the state board of health, with emphasis on better budgeting and accounting systems.

Travel Check
Review of the motor vehicle department's accounting system to provide adequate internal controls for cash accounting and to install a system of program accounts.

Study of the three methods of granting pay raises for state employees: the merit program, the cost-of-living bonus and the biennial review.

Study of travel authorizations involving a review of the methods used for planning, reviewing and controlling travel by state employees.

State Solon Proposes

Lawmaker Proposes Bill

Washington — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) Monday offered a bill that would require public disclosure of all contact by members of congress with federal regulatory agencies.

Proxmire's bill states that each agency would record the substance of any written or oral communication received from a member of congress on pending proceeding.

thus permitting the members of the legislature to face the ire of the vehicle owners.

Cities might also find it expedient to levy local income or sales taxes, for competitive reasons. The use of license fees, while often proposed and endorsed in principle by the League, is of relatively less fiscal importance. Substantial relief of property tax burdens probably could be attained only through the use of more broadly based local levies.

Some Drugs on Market Rated as Deplorable

Doctor Charges Medical Societies are Beholden to Certain Big Manufacturers

Washington — A doctor charged today some big medical societies are so beholden to certain free spending drug manufacturers they won't listen to criticism of the firms' products.

Dr. William Bean of the Iowa State university medical school's staff made the allegation in written testimony filed with the senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee.

He described as dangerous and deplorable some of the medicines now being placed on the market. He said they should receive a lot of thoughtful and critical discussion at doctors' meetings.

Bean's prepared statement mentioned no companies or medical societies by name. Aides to Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said the doctor would be asked for details when he testifies later today in a resumption of the subcommittee's investigation of alleged profiteering and monopolistic practices in the drug industry.

Indian Cut Not Allowed At School

Detroit — For a little while 10-year-old Jake Bailey was a proud, Mohawk Indian. Now he is back in the reality of the fifth grade.

Jake admitted Indians so much he begged his mother to give him a Mohawk haircut. She finally did and there wasn't a prouder boy than Jake when he showed up at the Brady elementary school Friday with a narrow strip of hair down the center of his otherwise bald head.

But Mary C. Sullivan, the school principal, didn't like Jake's haircut and sent him home. She said he couldn't come back to school until his hairdo was changed. Over the weekend, Jake's mother trimmed down the strip of hair, but stopped short of shaving all of Jake's head.

Miss Sullivan let Jake back in school Monday. She said his new haircut was "okay."

Deny U. S.-Japanese Treaty Antagonistic Toward Red Chinese

Tokyo — Premier Nobusuke Kishi has denied that Japan took an "antagonistic policy" toward communist China by signing a security treaty with the United States.

Replying to questions by a member of the socialist opposition in the lower house of parliament, Kishi said the Peiping regime "has been criticizing Japan in various ways."

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai charged yesterday that the new U.S.-Japan security treaty "not only threatens the security of China and the Soviet Union but first of all poses a direct threat to the security of the people of the southeast Asian countries."

Two Persons Killed In Milwaukee Blaze

Milwaukee — Flames raced through a paint store and adjoining living quarters early today, taking the lives of two persons.

Authorities tentatively identified the fire victims as Robert B. Nolan and his wife, Carrie, operators of the Dependable Painters company. Witnesses said they heard a small explosion in the paint shop area on the first floor shortly before the fire.

New Violence Erupts in South Sitdown Strike

Two Arrests Made After Fight in Nashville, Tenn.

Atlanta — New violence erupted in the South during the 10th week of the sitdown demonstrations.

A fight, the brandishing of a shovel and the drawing of knives marked protests against segregation in Nashville, Tenn., Monday after nearly three weeks of calm.

Two arrests were made. The first Negro boycott of white merchants in Mississippi was reported at Jackson.

Police and merchants said it fizzled. But a spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People described the attempt as 70 per cent effective.

More than 100 Negroes demonstrated at four stores in Concord, N. C., and six of them were arrested. In addition the woman proprietor of a store was charged with assault.

The turbulent scenes occurred on a day a United Nations mediator termed peaceful demonstrations for desegregated service at lunch counters "the resurgence of the American dream."

Dr. Frank P. Graham, former U. S. senator and a former president of the University of North Carolina, made the statement while speaking to the North Carolina conference for social service at Raleigh.

Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota called on white college students demonstrating for Negro rights at a Minneapolis park area to "rise to the high level of courage and moral conviction required to fight for principles of equality and brotherhood" in the North as well as in the South.

At Atlanta, the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., a Negro integration leader, said Negro college students from 40 communities where protests have been staged would meet in Raleigh, N. C., Easter weekend.

He said the sessions might lead to development of a "selective buying program" as well as formation of a south-wide council to battle racial segregation.

Man, 30, Dies of Crash Injuries

Milwaukee — Injuries suffered when his auto rolled onto the lawn of a private home have taken the life of a Wisconsin Rapids man who became Wisconsin's 169th traffic victim of the year, compared with 165 on this day a year ago.

Lyle L. Erickson, 30, of Wisconsin Rapids, died in a hospital there early today of injuries suffered Monday night when his car left Highway 13, five miles west of Wisconsin Rapids, rolled over and came to a stop six feet from a house. Erickson died of a head wound and other injuries.

Call for Negotiations On Weapons in Space Draws Russian Rebuff

Red Delegate Rejects Appeal To Ban Nuclear-Armed Vehicles

Geneva — The western powers called on the Soviet Union again today to join in negotiation of a permanent ban on weapons of mass destruction in outer space. They drew a Russian rebuff.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin told the 10-nation disarmament conference last week the Russians will agree to ban space weapons only when the United States abandons its foreign bases. He rejected an appeal by U. S. Ambassador Fredrick M. Eaton to keep outer space free of nuclear-armed vehicles by a simple control agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Italy's Gen. Luigi Danielli repeated the suggestion at the 21st session of the deadlocked conference today.

He challenged Zorin's argument that the west wants to ban space weapons only to nullify what the Russians consider a Soviet military advantage in this field.

Zorin's unfavorable comparison between Russian and American progress in space is not borne out by the facts, the Italian delegates said. He recalled that the United States has launched 20 space vehicles, of which nine are still in orbit, whereas only three Soviet satellites and three space probes had been reported.

He urged Zorin to reconsider his refusal and suggested on behalf of all five western delegations, that the conference set up a committee of space experts to discuss the problem.

A Soviet delegation spokesman, Alexei A. Roschin, dismissed Gen. Danielli's proposal as "of no consequence."

May Drop Limit
Poland's Prof. M. Lachs hinted that the Soviet bloc might soon announce abandonment of its 4-year time limit for total world disarmament, presenting the move as a major Soviet concession.

Eaton promptly authorized an American delegation press statement asserting that "The Soviet Union is fully aware — as we have always been — of the unpracticability of such a provision."

"If the Soviet delegation attempted to present that move as a big concession to the west," the statement said, "we would like to point out now that it would not be a concession to our viewpoint, but a concession to logic and the abandonment of a concept in which we are sure the Soviet delegation never seriously believed."

Kennedy Told To Stop Worry

Parley Alternates Will Uphold Ideals, Group Head Says

Milwaukee — State Sen. Leland McParland said Monday supporters of presidential hopeful Sen. John F. Kennedy can stop worrying about the selection of alternate delegates to the national Democratic convention.

Alternates should favor the same candidate as their principals. It would not be right to send a Humphrey alternate for a Kennedy delegate, or vice versa, McParland said in a statement as chairman of the State Central committee, the body that names alternate delegates.

Kennedy won the Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary a week ago over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Delegates pledged to Kennedy had a caucus here Sunday and expressed fears that alternate delegates to the convention would be named who are unfriendly to him. They claimed the committee is dominated by Humphrey supporters.

McParland said he believed the committee would choose alternates who supported the same presidential nomination candidate as the elected delegates.

Boy, 13, Takes Long Joy Ride

Buffalo, N.Y. — A 13-year-old boy who hitched free plane and train rides for a 1,200-mile joy ride halfway across the country says next time he'll try for a through flight to the west coast.

Dean Sterling of Sea Cliff, N. Y., was found by police in a hotel Monday shortly after he had arrived from Chicago on a New York Central train.

He was being held for transportation home.

His grandmother, Mrs. Robert L. Sterling, of Sea Cliff, said:

"I'll see that he gets home, but we're going to let the proper authorities escort him here."

Heart Stopped By Pressure On Nerve

Sometime ago at an annual medical convention M. H. Nathanson, M.D., of Minneapolis, gave an unusual demonstration of stopping the heart. He used an amplifying device to carry the sound of the heart to his audience. By pressing on a nerve in the necks of his patients, he stopped their heartbeats for several seconds. The purpose of these experiments was to find a drug which would cause the heart to beat in spite of the pressure.

The basic principle of Chiropractic is that nerve pressure causes disease and abnormal function, which is definitely proven by the above experiment and by removing the pressure on the nerve the heart resumed its normal function. There is no need to look further for the cause of heart trouble, however, all heart trouble does not begin directly in the heart itself, but by some infection or disorder in a distant organ and the heart suffers the consequences. The same principle applies, by removing the nerve pressure with Chiropractic adjustments the whole organism is coordinated and health is restored from within.

An Election by the House

As things stand today it is impossible for the south to elect a President of the United States. The Democratic party which can count upon the votes of the south without much question is now in the hands of northern liberals. The southern Democrats stand for state's rights whereas the northern Democrats are generally strong supporters of a powerful central government. In congress the southern Democrats frequently vote with the northern conservatives. Nevertheless, when it comes to the selection of a presidential candidate the south is compelled to work in the same convention with the northern liberals. They are held to their present position largely by tradition and patronage.

Nevertheless the southern Democrats have a certain amount of success in congress because of their powerful bargaining position and they hope to carry that into the presidential election if possible. Congressional Quarterly, Inc., points out that the southern conservatives will have a bloc of 104 electoral votes which could give them power enough to throw the presidential election into the house. There the southern gentlemen would be in position to win major policy concessions from one or the other of the principal candidates. While this would be something less than naming the president it might serve the purpose of the southern states just as well.

If neither presidential candidate should receive a majority of the 537 electoral votes, it would fall upon the house to choose a president from among the candidates having the highest number of electoral votes but not exceeding three candidates.

While it is well established by tradition that presidential electors vote for the candidate of their party, they are not bound by law to do so. In five southern states the laws provide that the electors need not feel morally committed. In four other southern states, the electors are associated with each presidential candidate at the time of their election but the law specifically permits state committees to support candidates other than those of the national committees. Thus nine southern states with a total of 104 electoral votes could in a close election by voting for a candidate other than those nominated by the Republican and Democratic parties throw the election into the house.

Congressional Quarterly recalls that in 1948 the state's rights party with Strom Thurmond as its candidate won only 39 electoral votes. Nevertheless, the election was so close in the rest of the country that the switch of 18,000 Democratic votes in California and 7,000 Democratic votes in Ohio, to the Republican party, would have left candidates Dewey and Truman each without a majority of the electoral votes.

Leaders of the Democratic party are well aware of the danger and they propose to adopt their loyalty rule which provides that convention delegates will not be seated unless they pledge to do all in their power to see that the names of the party nominees are placed on their state ballot in November.

In spite of such a rule, if the presidential electors should be different people from those attending the convention it is difficult to see how they could be bound by the convention pledge. At any rate, the southern leaders are said to be seriously considering the possibilities of this strategy if the opportunity should present itself.

Danger of Unintentional War

A couple of recent dramatic offerings have pointed up something frightening about the nuclear powder keg on which the world is sitting.

The movie On the Beach and the television show Alas, Babylon, both adapted from widely-read novels, depicted the horrible state in which our world would find itself during and after a nuclear war.

It is interesting to note that we have heard both productions referred to as "science fiction tales." The nearness of nuclear war no longer is in the science fiction category. It can happen here, if current arm-race trends aren't halted.

Both stories were controversial and shocking. And, in each, it appeared that the wars may have been started by accident. The awful fact is that the world could be plunged into a fiery holocaust accidentally.

The countries currently possessing hydrogen and atomic weapons are being led by sane men. It is improbable, but not impossible, that rational men would intentionally launch World War III. The U. S. and Russia have vast arsenals of modern weapons with nuclear capability, standing at the ready. Both insist that they won't use them unless attacked.

Some dull day a radar-watcher, on either side of the iron curtain, may spot some unidentified flying object, or a cluster of them, and become wrongly convinced that his country is under attack. It is conceivable that his superior could be convinced, too. And, after consultation with supreme command, the key button might be ordered pushed.

The likelihood of this happening, could be increased if the U. S. were to adopt an airborne alert with nuclear potential; this might have influenced President Eisenhower's decision against such a move. Yet not having an airborne alert also involves terrible risks; such is the awesome nature of the decisions our leaders must make in this era.

Can there be complete assurance that this country would never retaliate against a non-existent attack? What precautions have we taken to prevent this possibility? Have the Russians taken similar measures? And won't the Chinese Communists, when they get nuclear weapons, constitute an even greater danger because of their demonstrated unwillingness to accept the responsibilities of a great power?

The grim eventualities brought to mind by a negative answer to any of these questions tell us why we must continue disarmament negotiations despite the crushing frustrations we continue to experience in them. One chance in a million is not too long a shot, when millions of human lives are at stake.

Farmers and Weed Killers

The use of chemical weed killers on cranberry crops last year caused a tremendous loss to Wisconsin cranberry growers and it is deeply regretted because most people have come to feel it was unnecessary for it might have been avoided if the farmers had used the chemicals properly. The claim that the danger from the chemical was so remote as to have made the government's ruling unnecessary is beside the point. The law required the action taken and the law still is on the books. Therefore, the way for farmers to avoid future expensive lessons of this type is to use the chemicals properly.

Dr. M. C. Wilson of Purdue University believes that the lesson may be a blessing in disguise. He thinks the ban may force farmers to be more careful in their use of pesticides and he believes this will bring better results for the farmers. Dr. Wilson, speaking in Milwaukee recently, said that Indiana had suffered a $12,000,000 loss last year from meadow spittlebugs. Part of this loss was due to the fact that the farmers waited until their "legs got wet from the field" when they walked through their spittle.

In the future he believes the lesson on the cranberry crop will force farmers to look for the pest and apply the pesticide earlier so that it will have more time to disappear. This will give the farmers more effective control and better crops. It also will relieve the public of any worry about poison residue in foods. Dr. Wilson says the tests indicate that if pesticides are applied early enough there is no detectable residue at harvest time. This is a very simple lesson and one which farmers should follow carefully to protect their own crops as well as the crops of their neighbors.

Loafers, Schemers Enjoy Jobless Aid

Loafers and schemers make a grab bag of unemployment compensation programs, collecting for vacations, honeymoons and even into retirement. Legislation now before Congress, could make the situation worse.

A Wisconsin mine-hoist operator was fired after shamming sickness for eight weeks while he competed in country-fair harness races. It was ruled his truancy should not bar him from compensation.

A Georgia school teacher, paid by the year, collected compensation during a vacation in North Carolina. These cases were reported by the U. S. Department of Labor in a bulletin to inform state compensation officials on legal precedents in line with principles laid down by the Bureau of Employment Security.

Workers who retired on pensions collected $20 million in unemployment benefits during a 3-year period. Students, pregnant women retired, seasonal workers and others cleared $2 million in three months. Last April, Pennsylvania had to borrow $96 million from Washington to keep out of the red. On the other hand, Ohio, which has resisted BES recommendations, and was sharply criticized for it, has $407 million in its unemployment funds, without any need for federal loans.

A bill now before congress would force the states to adopt federal benefit rates for 9-month payment terms. Says William Papier, director of research and statistics at Ohio's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, "It seems inevitable that, if present trends continue, the states will be reduced to the status of rubber stamps or the system will break down of its own complexity."

TV Gives Wrong Impression About Iwo Jima Flag-Raising

From Editor and Publisher

Newspapers and news photographers — Joe Rosenthal in particular — were given an unmerited black eye Sunday night in a TV broadcast which labeled his Pulitzer Prize-winning picture of the Iwo Jima flag-raising as a "phony." It came out in an NBC play, "The American" based on the Merle Miller story of Ira Hayes, a Marine participant in that event who died in 1955.

The character playing the moody Indian Hayes said: "They'd taken about 10,000 pictures that day — everybody knew it was a phony. Everybody on the island was laughing about that phony flag-raising picture."

Thus millions of Americans were told an untruth, their faith in a photograph which has almost become a national symbol has been shattered, and the implications left that photographers and newspapers, and the press services which distributed the pool picture, all conspired to deceive the public.

We doubt that "literary license" by the script's author required such misrepresentation. NBC in its epilogue to the program could have set the record straight, but it didn't. The author and NBC could have ascertained the facts if they had tried to. They have been published repeatedly since 1945 and the circumstances of the flag-raising and the Rosenthal picture have never been a secret.

There were two flag raisings on Mount Suribachi that day and both of them were reported at the time. The second one — where a larger flag replaced the first and where Rosenthal got his picture — was spontaneous, unposed and unrehearsed — while the Marines were still shooting it out with the Japanese. The raising of a small flag and its replacement by a larger one that could be seen from the whole island was adequately reported the day following — the day the picture was distributed. The next month a Time magazine broadcast quoted its correspondent as saying the scene was reposed. Presented with the facts Time broadcast a correction and apology the following week. Rosenthal's own account of the flag-raising and picture was printed in Collier's in February, 1955. Editor and Publisher that month quoted a story from Knoxville News-Sentinel in which a fellow Marine reported Ira Hayes had told him aboard a troopship returning to the U. S.: "We then tied it down. Then a Marine hollered over to us and said our picture was taken. About 20 yards away we saw Joe Rosenthal and a couple of photographers. We didn't know they were taking our picture."

We don't know what steps NBC could take to correct the unjust and erroneous impression it has given to millions of viewers. We don't know that it will even try. Neither the newspaper, AP nor Rosenthal have ever tried to hide the fact that there were two flags. It has been well-publicized since the day it happened that the first and smaller flag raised on an iron pipe was photographed by an Army lensman but it was Rosenthal's action shot of raising the second and larger flag that contained the drama and received world-wide acclaim. In fact, the Pulitzer judges were fully cognizant of the double flag-raising when they suspended the rules to make the Rosenthal picture eligible for the 1945 prize.

We hope that the nation's newspapers will assist NBC in telling the true story to the American public as Marine Gen. Holland M. Smith said this week: "It was no fake."

A first hand account of the second flag raising appeared in Westbrook Pegler's column in the June 19, 1956, issue of the Appleton Post-Crescent. It was an interview with John Bradley, navy hospital corpsman

The Justiceship in the Second ward of this city has been abolished by act of the Legislature. We always doubted the legality of its creation.

The Appleton Post-Crescent enters upon its eighth Volume. We have no new pledges to make respecting its future course; the past is its best guaranty. We design to improve its mechanical appearance from time to time and add to its literary and political merits.

By the amended charter of this City we are now to have a separate fund raised by taxation for City bridges and Plank Road repairs. In other words, these expenses will become a general City tax. On the first of June, the

Under the Capitol Dome

Meaning of Maier's Victory in Milwaukee

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — It is somehow difficult to get used to the idea that edgy, sensitive, proud Henry Maier is about to become one of the highest public officers of Wisconsin as the mayor-elect of the city of Milwaukee.

But the cold figures of the balloting clerks in the metropolis tell the story. The Milwaukee state senator who has been anxiously charting a political career since he was a boy turned in one of the most astonishing upsets of recent times in Wisconsin politics when he beat down the challenge of Rep. Henry Reuss, who started as an odds-on favorite when Mayor Frank Zeidler disclosed his decision to quit the office he had held for three terms.

The defeat of Reuss must have been a bitter one for the congressman and may very well have reduced his prestige to an extent that he may be in danger from the candidacy of Sen. Kirby Hendee, an apt young Republican who probably can persuade many of the suburban Republicans to return to the Republican fold they left when Reuss started his career a few years ago.

MAIER

The Maier story has an in-from Appleton who was one of the six men in the second flag raising detail.

Bradley, now a funeral director in Antigo, was assigned to the marine invasion of the island. He made it clear in the Pegler interview that he was not one of the original 5-man patrol which raised the first, smaller flag on Mount Suribachi.

This is what Bradley told Pegler in 1956:

"You see, the flag Rosenthal took wasn't the first one. There was a patrol going up to secure the hill. When the group got there, the lieutenant who was platoon leader had a flag in his pocket and he broke it out."

Bradley explained that this first group secured the lieutenant's flag to an old piece of pipe, the same pipe he and the five others later used to hoist the larger flag. He said he thought the large flag came from a ship.

"I did not go up with the original patrol," Bradley told the columnist. "I was a hospital corpsman of the navy, but I wore the marine uniform. The purpose of raising the second flag was to tell the Americans that we held this high place. It was quite a relief to see that flag."

terest broader than the confines of Milwaukee not only because of his rank as one of the leading spokesmen of his party in the legislature for the last decade.

It is significant because of the terms in which the young state senator submitted himself to the Milwaukee electorate.

One of Maier's key themes was the idea that Milwaukee has been unfairly treated by the state legislature in a fiscal way, and that he as an experienced legislator could set things aright in the state capitol.

This will be an illuminating attitude for the politicians out-state, and especially those in the less affluent districts who have regarded Milwaukee as in fact a kind of a milk cow, with respect to its public revenue resources, that should be used for the benefit of the smaller towns and rural sections and that posed a tempting possibility for even more production in that direction in the future.

Just now, for example, some of the state's tax investigators are considering a redistribution of state tax revenues on the basis of need, which would almost surely favor the low valuation sections at the expense of the urbanized, industrialized constituencies of which Milwaukee is the chief. The political complexities of the tax issue are perhaps nowhere better illustrated than in the plea of the new Milwaukee executive that Milwaukee needs succor from the state at a time that out-state spokesmen have directly contrary ideas.

MAIER THE MAN

The are those who have not taken Maier as seriously as he has deserved — because of some personality attributes. But he showed in his Milwaukee drive that he has learned the art of politics well. Few young men of his vintage have such a grasp of the mechanics of politics.

His campaign was a model of preparation, timing, financing and organization.

Like Reuss, Maier never regarded the mayoralty as an end in itself, according to those who know both men best. Almost surely the mayor-elect who has dreamed in the past about possessing the governorship, who once impetuously ran for the U. S. senatorship from Wisconsin when it was plain that he was premature, will essay forth in pursuit of a higher office in the future and just as surely will be a formidable contender because of his municipal office rank.

Meanwhile Maier can provide a rallying point and a forum for those Milwaukee Democrats who, in spite of their numbers, always have felt resentful about the domination of their party by the Madison Democratic politicians. Such men as Howard Meister, Maier's closest associate, campaign manager and a Milwaukee organization leader, will have some pretty convincing claims for state party command in view of the convincing mayoralty triumph.

Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro — has just lost two more of his best military leaders by the defection route.

If this goes on, the Castro regime after a while will have too few chiefs and far too many Indians — which is fully as unhealthy for any government as to have all chiefs and no Indians.

Miami, Fla. —A Cuban airlines flight crew brought their airplane to Miami on a regular run today then asked for political asylum.

The three crew members, joined by one passenger, said the Cuban government was infiltrated by communism and they wanted no part of it.

Fifteen other passengers—11 aliens and four U.S. citizens—were unaware of the drama in the making during the Havana - Miami flight.

The plane landed safely but two of its engines burned out after it reached the ground. Mechanics said its crew did not go through "proper check procedures." No further explanation was forthcoming immediately.

The crew was greeted at Miami by Eduardo Whitehouse, Cuba's civil aviation chief under the ousted Batista dictatorship. He said he had a hunch for a couple of days that the defectors were en route.

Economic Decline
Wolfbein added that he saw nothing in the figures warranting fear of an economic decline. He noted, however, that there have been some job layoffs in the auto industry.

One factor contributing to the employment decline was a drop of about 650,000 in farm employment to a March total of 4,565,000—the lowest farm job total for any month in many decades, possibly since before the turn of the century.

Construction employment, which usually increases somewhat in March, declined by 120,000 and trade employment, which also increases normally, declined by about 35,000. Wolfbein said that here again the bad weather was the dominant factor.

No Solution in View for Italy's Political Crisis

President Gronchi Seeking Successor To Latest Premier

Rome —President Giovanni Gronchi today turned once again to the task of trying to lead Italy out of its gravest postwar government crisis. But in the political chaos no solution was in sight. Gronchi started through the ritual of consulting the nation's political and party leaders' after Premier Fernando Tambroni resigned last night, reopening a 7-week-old crisis. No one was even being mentioned as a possible successor to Tambroni.

New Elections
There was some suggestion that Gronchi might call for new national elections, since no party has a majority in parliament. But that would be unprecedented in Republican Italy, and most political observers thought new elections were not likely immediately. It was generally believed Gronchi would tap some Christian democrat to make at least one more stab at putting together a government. The Christian democrats are the largest party and have headed every postwar Italian government.

Gronchi planned to talk today with Cesare Merzagoro, senate president, and Giovanni Leone, speaker of the chamber of deputies. The president canceled a trip to Milan to open the big trade fair there. He was expected to have more consultations tomorrow and Thursday before making a decision.

Meanwhile, Tambroni's all-Christian democrat government remains in office as a caretaker regime.

The crisis started Feb. 24 with the fall of Premier Antonio Segni's cabinet. Later Segni tried to form a new government and failed. Tambroni put a cabinet together March 25, but it ran into trouble when fascist deputies gave it decisive support in a confidence vote last Friday. Two ministers resigned rather than stay in a cabinet that had to depend on fascist support to get a parliamentary majority.

had talked during the night to newsmen from throughout the country. During a call placed by the Associated Press, Jennings said he would give up his fight for free passage out of town and a job elsewhere.

Jennings said he hadn't slept all night. "I haven't eaten yet, either. I'm just fixing a couple of eggs and coffee." At that time he said Barbara was "just fine. She's asleep now."

He was asked what he thought the escapade would gain him.

"A couple of dead cops. I just don't like them. They're always on my back about something."

Retrial Hearing Set In Finch Murder Case

Los Angeles —Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff are due back in court Thursday—for a hearing on their retrial on charges they murdered the doctor's wife.

But the district attorney said yesterday his office would accept guilty pleas only to the original charges, murder and conspiracy. Their first trial on these charges ended March 16 in a hung jury.

Ike Plans to Visit Korea

Adds 1-Day Jaunt To Itinerary of Journey to Russia

Augusta, Ga. —President Eisenhower today added a 1-day visit to Korea to the itinerary of his June trip to Russia and Japan.

Eisenhower will reach Japan on June 19 and interrupt his visit on June 22 to fly to the republic of Korea. He will go back to Japan and finish out his visit there on June 23.

A simultaneous announcement at the temporary White House here and in Tokyo and Seoul said this:

The White House announced today that the president's visit to Japan on the occasion of the Japanese - American centennial would take place from June 19 to June 23. While in Tokyo, the president will have conversations with Prime Minister Kishi and his associates.

The president will also make a brief visit to the republic of Korea on June 22 in response to a long-standing personal invitation of President Rhee with whom he will have an opportunity to discuss matters of common interest. The president has long desired to revisit Korea where the United States has contributed so much to the role played by the United Nations in preserving Korean independence.

Reds Gain Power in Film Capital From Depression to 1947 Hearings

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood —F— Since 1947, the lot of the communist in Hollywood has not been an easy one.

That was not always so. During the 1930s when the depression made radicalism more fashionable, a tight group of leakers to the far left arose in the film colony. They meetings and was applauded when he declared, "If I had my way, they all would be sent back to Russia." Louis B. Mayer said the reds had been prevented from subverting the screen and argued they "should be denied the sanctuary of the freedom they seek to destroy." Other friendly witnesses were Gary Cooper, Adolphe Menjou, Ronald Reagan, Jack L. Warner, Robert Montgomery, George Murphy, Walt Disney.

Another group of witnesses was not so friendly. Ten film creators refused to answer whether they were or had been communists. They were cited for contempt of congress.

Contempt of Congress
Eric Johnston, head of the major producers, and Donald Nelson, leader of the independents, joined in deploring the action of the 10. Said Johnston:

"We will forthwith discharge or suspend without compensation those in our employ, and we will not re-employ any of the 10 until such time as he is acquitted or has purged himself of contempt and declares under oath that he is not a communist."

The "unfriendly 10" appealed their contempt convictions and lost, were fined $1,000 each and sent to jail for a year. With a touch of Hollywood-like irony, some of them served time with J. Parnell Thomas, the committee chairman who asked them the questions and later was convicted of payroll padding.

The 10 got out of jail and on un-American affairs in October, 1947. It was a star-studded show.

Robert Taylor said commies disrupted Screen Actors guild unfriendly 9 until the affair of the unclaimed Oscar.

In 1957, the Motion Picture academy gave a scripting award to Robert Rich for "The Brave One." No Robert Rich came forth to claim it, and everyone was vague about just who he was. Finally, he was identified as Dalton Trumbo, an unfriendly witness.

Trumbo now says: "It is a matter of public knowledge that I and other blacklisted writers have done many scripts for the major producers. In some instances, our identity has not been known by the studios; in some instances, it has."

One question has remained unanswered: if Trumbo wrote "The Brave One," why doesn't he claim the orphaned Oscar?

"An Oscar is something that is awarded to you," the writer told me. "It hasn't been sent to me, and I'm not going to ask for it."

Haresfoot to Give Revue of Top Musicals

'Wonderful Show' at Green Bay Theater Wednesday, April 20

A departure from its traditional production will be offered by the famed University of Wisconsin Haresfoot club when it makes its annual visit to the Fox valley week after next.

This year, instead of presenting a Broadway or original show Haresfoot will present a revue of scenes from a number of past successes.

"Wonderful Show," the 62nd annual production of Haresfoot, will play at Green Bay's Vic theater Wednesday night, April 20. Appleton will be bypassed this year.

Musical Montage
A montage of scenes will be from such musicals as "Damn Yankees," "Wonderful Town," "Bells Are Ringing," "Touch and Go" and "New Faces."

The variety show is believed to be the first production of its kind in Haresfoot history.

The Green Bay appearance is part of the club's annual spring tour. The all-male contingent also will appear at La Crosse, Manitowoc, Milwaukee and Rockford, Ill. Except for war years, the club has been making the yearly swing during Easter vacation since 1909.

Haresfoot will feature a "glamorous" edition of Tallulah Bankhead as mistress of ceremonies. In creating the role, Haresfooters have had the assistance of musical comedy star Carol Channing, one of the stage's best impersonators of Miss Bankhead.

The role will be played by Laird Marshall, university senior from Madison.

Claims Plane Made a Strafe Run on Auto

Death Valley, Calif. —(AP)— Two prospectors say a jet fighter made a strafing run on their station wagon on a lonely desert road in Death Valley.

Paul Nett, 60, and Milo Potter, 81, of Long Beach, Calif., said the jet approached from behind, flying low.

"We heard popping noises," said Nett, "and we could see puffs of dust rising in a long line on the desert, about 100 yards away."

The plane disappeared before the men could identify it.

Dalton Trumbo, One of Hollywood's "Unfriendly 10" in 1947, works with a tape recorder on the script of "Exodus" for producer Otto Preminger. According to Boxoffice magazine, Trumbo was reinstated a member of good standing in the Writers Guild of America a week previous to the April 4 publication.

Honor Review, News Reveal State of Theater

Sick, Brave Institution Needs Help From Community Staging of Original Shows

BY JINGO

The sick and the brave could be a description of the American theater based on consideration of the stage last week-end in an announcement and a review.

The review was climaxed by the television presentation of awards to representatives of the Anti-Defamation League. There were awards only for representatives of the principal parts of the theater, the actors, the writers, the producers, directors and theater managers.

The program, narrated by Franchot Tone, dramatized highlights of the stage's long history of spearheading the fight against intolerance from the melodramatic "Oscar" to the powerful "Raisin in the Sun."

Although the scenes were but a part of the theater's record, which also contains a welter of very lightweight and much underweight material, the program made an even sometime theatergoer proud and gave hope the theater might return to being the cathedral of democracy instead of remaining the side chapel Maxwell Anderson's cynical director in "Joan of Lorraine" called it.

However, the announcement of a try-out of a new play served as a stark reminder that the brave part of the theater today comes only in flashes through a miasma that glows at the box office but will harden into a fungus on the pages of history.

The wet blanket is the word that Tennessee Williams is staging another play, "A Matter of Adjustment." This time the sick Croesus examines a malady so private it is hard to believe an audience could stand watching it. Word has it that the actors have a hard time performing it.

In answer to Williams-type success, the theater puts the blame on the public that supports this kind of writing. It's hard to buck success and with the tremendous investment necessary to put a show on the boards on Broadway or Hollywood the angels—the backers—are the last to try swimming against the current.

Jingo is in the company of those who believe a decentralization of the theater would go a long way toward putting more value back onto the stage. Community theaters, well patronized, could be the vanguard of this movement by staging original works in showcase productions to give the rest of the nation a chance to make itself heard over the din of clattering change from the parochial public that hides its purr behind the label of sophistication.

A more sustained review of the theater is being developed in the "Dow Hour of Great Mysteries" on NBC. With Joe Welsh, star of two earlier extravaganzas, "Anatomy of a Murder" and the Army-McCarthy hearings, as host, the program dipped deep into the dust bag for its first production, "The Bat," and played it in the style of the time. On April 24 it will consider a 1937 novel, "The Burning Court," and promises to supply a freshness to the Whodunit fad by demonstrating the axiom that "the past is prologue to the future."

Churning Unrest Found Inside Cuba; Revolution Faces Crisis

Outwardly Calm Appearance Only Disguise, AP Writer Finds

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Ciego de Avila, Cuba — "Fidel doesn't know. It can't be he knows what is going on in Cuba. When Fidel knows, he will change things."

So speaks a little man who has been hurt, one who still clings to faith and hope in the Cuban revolution.

But more and more in educated circles, those who had such faith are being disillusioned.

In the home of a man who once fought with Fidel Castro against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, I watched former 26th of July movement revolutionaries jeer bitterly as their onetime hero and idol shouted and gesticulated before television cameras.

In the home of a middle class businessman, I heard curses for Fidel, muttered by one who once funneled supplies to mountain hideouts of the embattled Fidelistas.

In a little provincial hotel of a tense, worried town, a charwoman spat upon a Fidelista newspaper and hurled it angrily to the floor.

On a city street corner I had a brief rendezvous with a man who once was a 26th officer. The meeting lasted

In Havana things look calm. The tourist bent on fun can still enjoy himself. But under the surface, Havana and Cuba are churning. The Castro revolution is at a crisis. To find out the situation today, William L. Ryan went into the provinces and interviewed scores of Cubans. This is the first of four articles illuminating the crisis that is taking place at the doorstep of the United States.

Sleep 8 Hours—Wake Up Tired?

Thus quickly help build rich, red blood—to restore strength and energy so you feel fine again fast! ness leaders, Cuban and American. The meeting failed to come off. Only one man was at the appointed place. "It's canceled," he whispered. "We're afraid." President Eisenhower was talking of this atmosphere last week when he said it is dangerous in Cuba "to voice opinions which do not conform with government policy."

Under the Castro government's rule, Cuba sometimes seemed haunted.

The man who cuts sugar cane and the mill worker still believe in the revolution. So does the white collar worker in the mill or factory office. They make up Castro's mass support. But many have vague fears—they believe Havana's constant anti-U. S. propaganda.

A peasant, despite Havana's bold word about fighting house to house if need be, does not relish the prospect. "In Guantanamo Bay there are ships with 10,000 marines waiting to come in and kill us," he says echoing a propaganda line. Actually there is barely a platoon of marines at the naval base the United States leases from Cuba under treaty.

The Cuban businessman is afraid. How long can he support his family when laws, regulations and arbitrary seizures are crowding him to the wall?

Sense Bloodshed

Even moderate elements are afraid. Some sense bloodshed in the offing. They have been told: "There is no neutrality—either you are all for us or all against us."

Hundreds in tense Camaguey province have been grabbed in roundups. Jails are being filled with those who spoke or acted out of turn. American consular authorities are kept busy aiding Americans jailed on the flimsiest of excuses.

Cuban Workers Gathering Sugar cane—backbone of Cuba's economy—are facing the "dead" season next month, and some Cubans fear serious trouble before it is over. The slow season starts toward the end of May when the cane is all cut and processed. The farm laborers, already pinched by dwindling take-home pay as a result of government deductions, will be dependent on credits to keep going and the government is short of money.

of 45,000 is subdued. Six months ago at least 80 per cent of its men would fight anyone anywhere, if Fidel said the word. Today, one hears, it is doubtful more than 20 per cent would do so willingly.

The town is bullied by 300 picked communists, who concentrate on the area because of its relative prosperity, deriving from nearby thriving sugar cane plantations and rich ranchland. Nearby a village has earned the nickname "Chiquita Moscú"—Little Moscow—so active are the communists there.

An American woman tells of being accosted by a communist on the street, who shouted at her: "You — Yanqui!"

Said another American woman: "I'm scared to death most of the time. I wake up at night perspiring. Life for an American woman in this area is just plain hell!"

She told of receiving threatening notes one night while her rancher husband was away, and of sitting up all night with a shotgun in her lap.

A Cuban cattleman tells how a friend of his, hounded by authorities, killed himself with a shot.

A Cuban businessman told me, "at least, publicly. If we do we go to jail."

A professional man who was with Castro in the mountains during the revolution says now: "Every possible solution leads to a dead end, and there is hardly a decent man left in the government. The outlook is black." It would not take much to set off violent anti-American actions by mobs who could claim the streets any time in the name of revolutionary patriotism. There is no heavy exodus now, but when the school term ends in the summer, many are reported ready to send their women and children to the United States. There are 8,000 Americans in Cuba. Nobody defends the United States abroad. That's the watchword: "Careful, Cubano! Somebody is listening." Next: Education for hate.

VALIANT LOWERS YOUR COST OF LIVING IT UP!

Valiant wagons look like they'd cost a real bundle. But they just look expensive (they're really nickel-nurses at heart!).

Take Valiant's inclined engine. Very open-handed with performance. Shamefully tight-fisted with a gallon of regular gas. Or Valiant's alternator electrical system. You might never know your Valiant has a battery. The alternator will make it last that long. Same with Valiant's fully unitized body. Rattle-proofed, rust-proofed, made to stay that way. Tight. Quiet. Tough.

Makes an ideal teammate for yet another Valiant feature—Torsion-Aire suspension. Together with Valiant's rugged construction, it takes the lumps out of bumps. Doesn't cost you a penny extra. Transmissions? There's a floor-mounted stick shift to bring out the sportsman in you. Or a three-speed pushbutton automatic, optional at extra cost. Both get great gas mileage.

Now let's give a thought to your family. Valiant wagons come in six- and nine-passenger models. They have plenty of easy stretch-out room for legs, elbows, hips, and plenty of headroom, too. All that plus: 72 cubic feet of wide open cargo space. Convenient power-operated tailgate window, standard on all 3-seat Valiant wagons. A hidden luggage compartment that locks. And you can get still more, if you want.

Like we said at the start, Valiant wagons lower your cost of living it up. Just look at one. Then imagine yourself behind the wheel. Great, isn't it? But it's nothing compared with coming in and getting behind the wheel—for keeps!

...and we've got Valiant!

State TOPS Recognize Royalty During Conference

Mrs. Lorraine Schultz, Second from left, 1958 queen from Fond du Lac, presents flowers to Mrs. Mae Schwengel, Port Washington, 1959 queen. Miss Cheryl Jensen, Clintonville, was named Tiny Tots princess and Miss Joyce Arenz, North Fond du Lac, won the teenager princess title.

A desire to lose weight sensibly is what prompted Mrs. Esther Manz to organize the TOPS club (take off pounds sensibly) 13 years ago. She realized that many people were in the same boat as she was overweight and not able to do anything about it.

Advocating the axiom, "In unity there is strength," she and three other women in Milwaukee united and the result was many pounds lost. The idea mushroomed and now there are approximately 100 chapters in Wisconsin, each with an average membership of 30.

The TOPS club is a first for Wisconsin—it is now an international organization with chapters in 42 states and Canada. Recently requests for membership have come from New Zealand, Africa and other foreign countries.

Mrs. Manz, the mother of five children, had read about Alcoholics Anonymous and organized her idea along the same lines. "People can fight the urge to eat for only so long—if there is no one there to stop them they give in to their hunger and the result is not gratifying," she explained.

Overcame Warnings

She was discouraged from organizing the club earlier because of the veils of Bernard MacFadden, a health enthusiast, who cautioned the woman that her idea would not work. However, after two years of mulling over her problem, she stepped out and went to work. The results were astonishing. Women began calling her seeking membership so frequently she had to have her phone disconnected.

An article in a Milwaukee paper telling of the woman's idea paved the way for more members. In Milwaukee, as in most towns, the club rents rooms for its weekly meetings. There now is a building fund drive in progress and women are encouraged to "buy a brick for a buck" for the new residence in Milwaukee, the national headquarters.

The first meeting was held in a recreational center in Milwaukee. Now meetings are held both morning and afternoon every day to accommodate the large membership.

There are 40 area supervisors within the organization. Wisconsin has 11 supervisors. The women travel to the various states within their area explaining the operations of the club and help in organizing the chapters.

Name Queen

Each state now has a recognition day at which state queens and princesses in various categories are elected. Appleton was host Saturday to the fourth annual SRD meeting. The first one was held in Chicago and was nationwide. State meetings are held to give each state a chance to recognize its own winners.

The first club was organized in 1948 after the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Manz noted this was a bad time for weight watchers—with all the rich desserts and cookies being served at Christmas time.

Her four daughters and sons became interested and assisted their mother at the headquarters by getting out the monthly papers.

In 1954, KOPS, (keep off pounds sensibly) was organized for members who had taken off weight and wanted to keep it off.

Mrs. Manz admitted that she was not a club woman and found it rather difficult in the beginning to manage and organize things. She took

In Good Taste Can Attend Wedding of Stepchild

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's daughter is to be married soon. The question has arisen as to whether or not it would be proper for me to go to the wedding and reception. The girl and I are very close, but her mother has custody of the children and will be giving the wedding. Her mother has been unfriendly toward me in the past, therefore the doubt. If it is proper for me to go, where shall I sit in church?

Answer: It would be entirely proper for you to go to the church, and you would sit several rows behind the bride's mother. Your husband will take his place beside you after he gives his daughter away. If the reception is at a hotel and the bride herself has invited you, it would be quite all right for you to go for a short time, but not if it is in the mother's own house without her personal invitation.

Showers Held For Bride-Elect

Miss Sharon Van Lankvelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Van Lankvelt, 627 W. Main street, Little Chute, has been feted at pre-nuptial parties in honor of her approaching marriage to Andrew C. Stumpf, Jr. He is the son of the senior Stumpfs, route 1, Menasha.

On March 11, Misses William Landreman, Ronald Diedrich, Perry Martin and William Van Lankvelt were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at May-Nor restaurant.

The Stumpf residence was the scene of a coin shower on March 27 and on April 9 Miss Darlene Peeters, 127 W. Lincoln avenue, Little Chute, entertained the bride-elect at a personal shower.

The couple will be married April 23 at St. John Catholic church in Little Chute.

Your Problems

Husband Smokes in Bed; Wife Helplessly Sounds Third Alarm

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are my last hope. What can I do about a husband who smokes in bed?

Answer: Motion with your head or hand, or, if he is looking the other way but standing nearby, call (not shout) "Waiter" to him. Otherwise, ask any waiter whose attention you can get, to send your waiter over. The silver against glass method is a European custom, not really incorrect, but not in general use here.

Make Visit Short

Dear Mrs. Post: When visiting in the house of a friend and the house is so chilly as to be uncomfortable, would it be improper to ask the hostess for a sweater?

Answer: If the hostess is an intimate friend, you may ask her for a sweater. If she is a formal acquaintance, it would be better to make your visit a short one and remember to wear warmer clothing the next time you visit her.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-18, entitled "Questions in Etiquette Test," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

of the human race called boys.

One week out of the year we have what is called "Twirp Week". This means that the girls invite the boys out.

Five of us girls who go together asked the fellows who have dated us the most during the year. We planned to take them to a movie, to one of our homes for dinner where we would all pitch in and cook, and then to a basketball game. So what happens? They tell us they're going bowling!

They have first call on us 104 nights a year (every Friday and Saturday). Don't you think they are being selfish, not wanting to give up bowling this one night when we want to entertain them? — Sheila, Mindy, Les, Sal and Pam

Dear Sheila, Mindy, Les, Sal and Pam: The boys are a little shy about what may seem to them too cozy a party. Don't be angry. They need time to grow up. It's not that they're selfish; they'd just be more comfortable bowling.

no desire to treat these women to a vacation. What is fair regarding finances? — Jonathan

Dear Jonathan: There's no reason for you to play Santa Claus. Under the circumstances, separate checks should be requested at all meals. This is better than trying to figure out who ate what.

Keep a record of all car expenses and split them four ways on the last day.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read Ann Landers' booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

League Hears Talk on Mexico

Her subject was "Mexico—Then and Now." She compared the Mexico of the early 1920s with the country as it was in 1951.

Mrs. R. E. Ramsay and Mrs. H. A. Downey were in charge of luncheon arrangements.

3rd Alarm

Dear 3rd Alarm: Tell Dave that one of these mornings the ashes on the floor could be his own.

Every year hundreds of people are burned to death because they think these hideous accidents happen only to others — not to them.

If he insists on continuing this practice, protect yourself by buying twin beds and outfitting his bed with asbestos-treated sheets and pillow cases.

Get a table topped with a fireproof finish. Keep a fire extinguisher in the corner and the phone number of the fire department posted over his bed.

Thoughtful Discussion, but Not Arguments Have Place in Home

BY ANGELO PATRI

In a family of teenagers arguments are a trial to parents. This is particularly so when these arguments are loud incriminations, taunts, appeals to "make" him or her do so and so.

The only thing to do about such arguments is to declare them to be "out." One sound family rule, doubly sound because it is basic to good manners outside and inside the home, is "no personal remarks." If that rule can be enforced family life will be more bearable.

Then there are the arguments that these young people get into with their parents. A mother says, "No, I don't like the idea of evening parties outside home, or in a home we don't know well. Why not have a party here?" "Because we can't have any fun," says the teenager. "If we go to the tavern we have a band there and we can dance. If we go to the beach we can make as much noise as we like."

The argument is on and the only thing the mother or father, can say is: "No. That's the end of it. If you must have a party, have it here." It is a mistake to go on and say, "If you were behaving properly you wouldn't be so anxious to get away from home and the people who know you best." That's only oil on the blaze.

There is another view of arguments however and that should be considered in families where there are teenagers, and that is the debate. This is like them, should be discussed with the children and debated according to the rules. Nothing a family group can do will enlighten them more and at the same time curb demonstrations of personal prejudice.

For such questions each side must muster the facts and be able to maintain them by sound argument, good references, first-hand knowledge. The discussion must be good-natured. Any show of temper, any remark that casts a slur on the opposition counts a loss. There must be no interruptions while one has the floor. One parent should act as mediator and keep order.

Few of today's parents seem to feel that this sort of education for their children is their privilege and duty and many a family that is wide apart in feeling and actions would have been a more united and enlightened group, had this practice been followed at least once a week or so.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet, "A Parent's Prayer," send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G. New York 19, N. Y.

SEAMS TO ME To Line or Not to Line?

By Patricia Scott

BY PATRICIA SCOTT

Have you ever admired a nicely - attired, attractive woman and said to yourself, "poor dear, she has such a divine face and she's so well-dressed, but oh my, look at that derriere!"

Well, if it is her derriere, I agree with Pat Scott you. Often, however, it isn't the woman's physical structure at all—it's the simply the saggy seat of her skirt, which is obviously unlined.

It's a shame to put so much loving care into making a dress and then to omit the lining out of sheer laziness. That's right, laziness, and just because the shoe may fit you, don't be furious with me. At one time I, too, was a bad offender until I finally realized that it took so little extra time to include a lining and that it made such a fantastic difference in the skirt's appearance—especially after a few wearings.

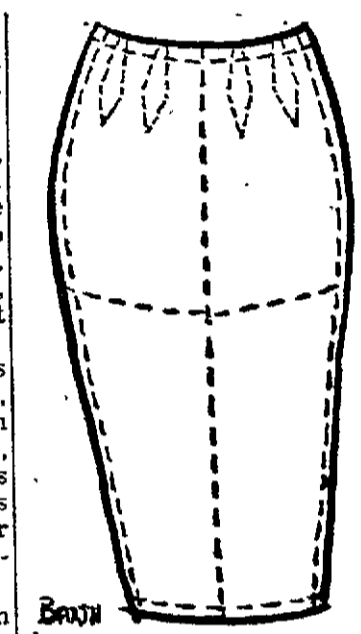

Now you may ask, "how does one know when to line a dress if it's not called for in a pattern?" That's easy. With the exception of pastel cotton dresses, always line a slim-skirted dress. I exclude light-colored cottons because you probably wash them and though most lining fabrics are washable, their percentage of shrinkage may differ from the outer fabric. For a full skirt, lining is optional. I recommend lining circular skirts, especially if they are of soft fabrics such as silk or sheer wool.

Kind of Lining

What kind of lining should be used? For slim skirts, the wonderful softwoven fabrics that are made of all acetate. This same fabric comes in a crisp finish for interfacing but always use the soft, supple lining for the bodice and sleeves and where soft collars are called for. For circular skirts, use the same lining or a non-woven fabric serving as a built-in petticoat.

If pieces are not included in the pattern, here are some hints on how to cut the lining:

Handle the lining exactly as you do the outer fabric. Use the same pattern pieces as the outer fabric unless lining pieces are included in the pattern.

Mark darts on the lining. If the fabric is exceptionally bulky, then mark darts on both the lining and the outer fabric and stitch separately.

After both outer and lining pieces are cut, pin the lining to the wrong side of the corresponding outer section.

Baste together with long stitches along waistline, side seams, hem, center from waist to hem, center from side to side (see illustration). Use the same principle on other pattern pieces.

Before machine - stitching the skirt side seams, take an approximate hem measurement. Now, cut the lining so that it is about one and one-half inches shorter than the hemline.

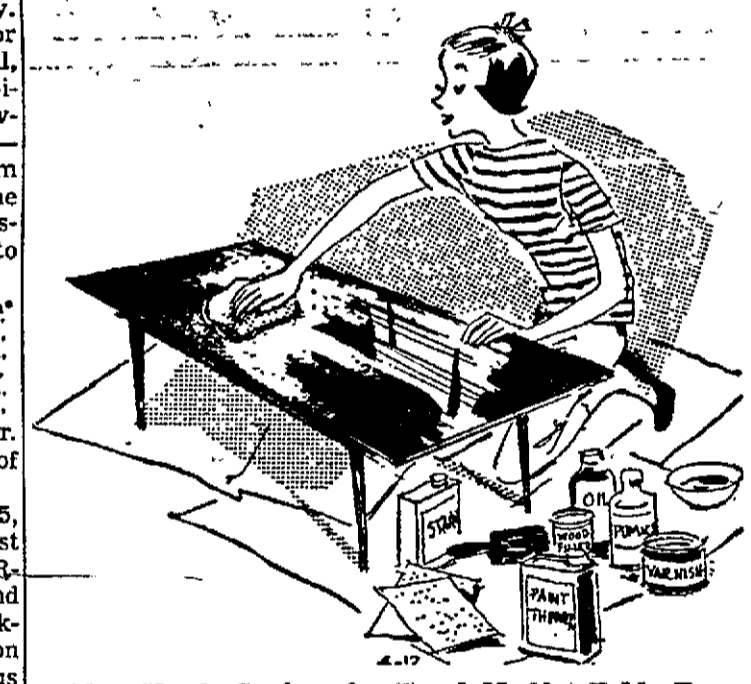

When hemming the skirt, catch your stitches to the lining but do not go through to seams, hem, center from

New Hardy Surface for Touch-Me-Not Table Top

A touch-me-not table top can be given a new, tough and durable surface with clear gloss varnish, and rubbed to a professional satiny finish by you. If the wood's only injuries are worn spots, it can be made ready with paint cleaner and touch-ups with the varnish. A hot iron over a damp cloth will raise over a damp cloth will raise slight dents. But be sure to use only the best quality varnish, the cabinet rubbing kind preferably, as nothing else brings top results.

These sure-fire tips lead the way: Don't stir or shake varnish, or wipe the brush across the can side, to avoid bubbles. Apply the varnish liberally in long, light strokes from a full brush dipped only one-third of the bristle depth into the can, first with the grain until the surface is covered, then across it. Finish the varnish application from an almost dry brush, following the grain. After hardening, the surface is ready for rubbing. Use a thick paste of pumice and crude oil on a heavy lint-free cloth pad. When the surface feels smooth, wipe it dry, clean it lightly with paint thinner and again wipe it dry. The clouded surface turns satin lustrous after a second rubbing. This time with powdered rottenstone and oil paste applied with a pad of clean felt.

Subtle Eye Make-Up

Only a few years ago, eye cosmetics were thought daring, if not naughty. Certainly, their effects were often bizarre.

But due to improved products and application techniques, eye make-up has gained wide acceptance. Its effect, these days, is one up on nature's own — a subtle increase in the color, size and sparkle of the eye. When eye make-up appears artificial, it is the user's fault.

For deft applications, you need only follow this method: Sit in a good light, before a magnifying mirror. Smooth powder base on face as usual, being sure to film puffs under brows. Do not apply base to moveable lids; film them with moisturizing lotion.

Using soft blue, green or gray shadow, shade moveable lids. Blend color upward at outside corners. If puff under brow is heavy, apply brown shadow to it.

Separate lashes with stiff, clean brush. Looking down into mirror, whisk mascara on tips of lashes. Use brown or charcoal on light lashes, black on dark lashes.

Brush-groom eyebrows. As necessary, darken pale brows with mascara; lightly pencil in missing strands of sparse brows.

For just this much doing, your eyes will look like twin stars! A liquid or pencil liner could add further luster, if your hand is quicker than the eye.

West isn't fooled by the first trick; he knows that South has the jack of hearts and that it can do no good to lead another heart. If East had the jack of hearts he would have played it instead of the nine of hearts at the first trick.
West therefore shifts to a spade. This gives us a chance to learn something about South's anatomy.

lished, and East gets in with the king of clubs in time to lead another heart. The defenders get four hearts and two clubs, and South is down two.

South can avoid this kind of stomach-ache by refusing the spade finesse. He takes the first spade trick with the ace and immediately knocks out the king of clubs.
Now the defenders can get the king of spades as well as their two clubs, but declarer takes the other 10 tricks.
The moral is very simple. Don't take every finesse in sight; you can't digest them all.

Daily Question
Dealer, at your right, bids one heart. You hold: S-J 10 9, H-A Q J, D-A K 2, C-Q 8 7 4. What do you say?
Answer: Bid one notrump. This shows 16 to 18 points, with balanced distribution and at least three suits stopped — including the opponent's suit. The requirements are just the same as for an opening strong bid of one no trump.

Dean Tells Details Of Royal Ceremony

BY EDDY GILMORE
London—Princess Margaret has "deliberately chosen" a 298-year-old wedding vow to "obey" commoner Anthony Armstrong-Jones when she marries him on May 6 in Westminster Abbey.

The Dean of Westminster, Dr. Eric S. Abbott, told a news conference today the introduction to the wedding ceremony would be taken from the Church of England's 1928 prayer book, but the central section would come from the prayer book of 1662.

It is in the older version that the bride vows to obey her husband, and the dean said the Princess and Armstrong-Jones had "deliberately chosen" the section.

"They felt the language of the 1662 vows is in every way deeper and richer than the 1928," said Dr. Abbott.

The Princess and her photographer fiancé will wed in ancient Westminster Abbey.

The ceremony will include no sermon, but the Princess and Armstrong-Jones have chosen the Beatitudes from the Sermon on the Mount (Matthew 5:3-11) as a scripture reading.

The wedding will be solemnized by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher. Dr. Abbott and the Precentor of Westminster, the Rev. C. T. H. Dams, will assist the prime minister. Dr. Abbott said the service would last about 50 minutes.

Although the royal family as a rule does not receive divorced persons, the Dean said the bridegroom's divorced parents would be in the Abbey sanctuary with the royal family for the ceremony.

The groom's father is the thrice married lawyer, Ronald Armstrong-Jones. His mother is the Countess of Rosse.

Asked whether the elder Armstrong-Jones' recent bride, a former airline stewardess, would attend the ceremony, the Dean replied: "I do not know anything about that."

About 2,000 people are expected to jam the Abbey for the ceremony, but thanks to the electronic age all will be able to see the rites. Television monitors will be fixed on pillars in the nave so that guests behind the organ screen can follow the ceremony.

"The wish of the bride and bridegroom was that their guests should share in the whole ceremony as fully as possible," the Dean explained.

Explosion in Chimney Causes $5,000 Damage

Sherwood — An estimated $5,000 damage from smoke and water was caused about midnight Monday in a dust and soot explosion in the chimney of the Ray Schroeder home.

The Schroeders live in the converted Jackson school, about 10 miles north of the village. The town of Harrison fire department answered the call.

Schroeder was awakened by the explosion and the family escaped the house without injury.

Area Students Win in State Speech Contest

Of 1,200 Entered, 550 Speakers Get Class A Ratings

Madison — Class A ratings and gold medals were won by 550 contestants, including a number from the Fox Cities area, at the annual state speech contest Saturday at the University of Wisconsin.

More than 1,200 high school speakers from 335 Wisconsin schools competed. Each participant had qualified for the state meet by winning league and district competition.

The contest is sponsored by young people to service and dedication," he said. Young people from behind the iron curtain are coming into India to work with the people in developing factories and agriculture, he pointed out.

Aaron said in the next 10 years this will be a crucial problem. Not even 50 per cent of the people of India have one square meal a day, and in this situation the communists are coming in.

No Parking Places
Americans must be willing to take the cross of dedication and service the communists are willing to bear. "If they have failed," he warned.

He said the country is ready to be taken over by communism. "In India, our most important problem is food, in the United States, high school students told me their most important problem is parking space."

"In every U.S. magazine and newspaper you see advice on how to diet. In India people are going to bed hungry 365 days a year."

How much does it cost NOT TO GO TO COLLEGE?

Everybody deplores the high cost of going to college.

But the rapid and exciting scientific developments of recent years make one thing obvious. It is vitally important that America's young people be well educated to meet the challenge of the future.

For quite some time, American business has been aware that the high cost of going to college is not nearly as high for the nation as the cost of not going to college. The cost of not going to college could be a critical weakening of democracy itself. The nation cannot afford that price!

To help promising students and privately-financed liberal arts colleges, we and many other companies give financial aid in various ways. Standard Oil, for example, has made funds available which provide for 34 graduate fellowships and undergraduate scholarships in science and engineering. The educational institutions select those who receive the awards. Four-year scholarships awarded through the National Merit Scholarship Corporation also are included in the program. Supplementary grants are made to schools chosen by the Merit Scholarship winners.

In addition, Standard Oil has made funds available from which $175,000 is paid yearly, through the State Associations of Colleges, to aid privately-financed liberal arts colleges in the Midwest and Rocky Mountain areas.

At Standard Oil, where so much of our planning concerns the future, we believe there are few things more vital to America's security than a well-educated public. And we think that industry should back up such beliefs with substantial aid to colleges and students.

What Makes A Company A Good Citizen?

For one thing—the way it looks ahead, for the good of all. In years to come, America will gain strength and security through the combined efforts of business and colleges today in making higher education available to more people.

3 Fined for Tipsy Driving Men, Young Woman To Lose Drivers' Licenses for Year

Two men and a young woman have been fined for drunk driving and each will lose his driver's license for one year.

Fined were Eldor C. Lau, 36, route 1, Chilton; Loretta M. Gabrilka, 18, of 8201 N. State street; and Loran A. Samson, 24, route 2, New London.

Lau was fined $100 by Justice Wilber Winch at Chilton Monday after he pleaded guilty. Lau was arrested by Calumet county police at 12:50 a. m. Monday for driving erratically near County Trunk E and Highway 57.

Suicided on Road
Miss Gabrilka was fined $100 in municipal court this morning. She was arrested at 11 p. m. Sunday on Highway 45 just east of Hortonville. State police said her car swerved off the shoulder of the road and took the left side of the road to make a left turn. She tested .18 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

The owner of the car, James R. Brush, 27, 309 Avon street, New London, who was riding with Miss Gabrilka, was fined $35 for transporting beer in a car with minor passengers. Police found two cases of beer in the car, with empty bottles and half-full bottles in the passenger area.

Samson pleaded no contest in municipal court Monday and was fined $125. He was arrested by state police on Highway 45 west of Hortonville on July 3, 1959. He refused to take a drunkometer test.

Correction

Robert Recker, not Becker as reported Monday, played the part of the meek and mild American tourist in the Appleton High school senior class play, "The Novel Princess."

The Crushed and Battered remains of a 1958 hardtop sedan lie against a farmhouse porch with the driver, Garret Egan, Milwaukee, still trapped inside, unconscious. Egan's condition is critical, with a serious concussion and head cuts. His car went straight on a sharp curve at Highway 45 and Winnebago County Trunk BB, overturned and smashed into the porch of the Harold Behnke home, route 1, Appleton. In the inset is a stop sign carried some 400 feet by the car to the farmhouse. Egan was alone. The photo is a rear view of the car.

Apostles, Jesus Were Wanted Men At Passover; Widow Mary Trembled

'One of You Shall Betray Me,'
Christ Said With Certainty

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Glowing candles cast a dappled pattern of lights and shadows on the walls of the cenacle, the second floor banquet room of the house of Mary of Cyprus. A gleaming white cloth covered the long, low table.

She was to be hostess for supper this night to a band of wanted men, and their bold chieftain.

Quietly, with low murmurings and whispers, she and the other women moved to and fro, arranging the wine cups, bowls of parsley greens, the roasted eggs, sauces, plates of bitter herbs, the bread and spiced figs and almonds.

The widow Mary sought to fix her full attention on the task at hand, but shapeless

The high priest had already ordered the arrest of Christ as the widow Mary of Cyprus prepared to receive the hunted men in her home for their final rendezvous. This is the second of five stories on the events that night and thereafter at "The Hallowed House."

premonitions stabbed at her, like the flitting shadows. Making of this premature paschal feast for indicted men had about it a somber finality.

Her brother, Joseph, had informed her that the high priest, Caiaphas, already had ordered their arrest, as soon as it could be done without public notice or clamor. Her hands trembled as she laid out the spoon-like ligulas.

She circled the table once more, patting and adjusting the cushions and rugs on the couches beside it. She paused, inspecting the whole tableau. At least the room reflected a gracious warmth, an inviting felicitude.

They reclined about the table, and Mary moved through the curtains with the water-jug for the washing of hands, as Jesus remarked, "From now on, I shall not drink of the fruit of the vine until the Kingdom of God comes."

The tone was calm, but the meaning portentous. Later, when the men as if to break the strain began a jousting exchange about who would be accounted greatest, Jesus himself took the basin and washed their feet to their embarrassment and chastened vanity. He said let the greatest be as a servant.

It was all quite odd. Mary watched fascinated from the dim hallway.

The meal continued with intimate comradeship and congeniality, but over it brooded an ominous fatefulness. Once, Jesus' gaze fixed on Peter and He said with deep compassion that He had prayed that Peter's faith not fail.

Peter's grizzled chin jutted. "Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into prison and to death," Jesus shook his head, telling him that before the cock crowed this day, "Thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest Me."

Jesus spoke the blessing. "Blessed art thou, Lord our God, King of the universe, who created the fruit of the vine." They drank, and sang the first hymn, "Praise ye the Lord.... Tremble thou Earth at the presence of the Lord."

Voices Rang Deep
Their voices rang deep and resonant, with manly hardihood and vigor. They were a bronzed, sinewy crew, herds-men, plowmen, fishers and some lettered men, heavy bearded and with dusty mantles.

Jesus spoke the blessing. "Blessed art thou, Lord our God, King of the universe, who created the fruit of the vine." They drank, and sang the first hymn, "Praise ye the Lord.... Tremble thou Earth at the presence of the Lord."

Voices Rang Deep
Their voices rang deep and resonant, with manly hardihood and vigor. They were a bronzed, sinewy crew, herds-men, plowmen, fishers and some lettered men, heavy bearded and with dusty mantles.

They reclined about the table, and Mary moved through the curtains with the water-jug for the washing of hands, as Jesus remarked, "From now on, I shall not drink of the fruit of the vine until the Kingdom of God comes."

The tone was calm, but the meaning portentous. Later, when the men as if to break the strain began a jousting exchange about who would be accounted greatest, Jesus himself took the basin and washed their feet to their embarrassment and chastened vanity. He said let the greatest be as a servant.

It was all quite odd. Mary watched fascinated from the dim hallway.

The meal continued with intimate comradeship and congeniality, but over it brooded an ominous fatefulness. Once, Jesus' gaze fixed on Peter and He said with deep compassion that He had prayed that Peter's faith not fail.

Peter's grizzled chin jutted. "Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into prison and to death," Jesus shook his head, telling him that before the cock crowed this day, "Thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest Me."

he lifted the fourth and final cup, gave thanks again, saying, "Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins."

Drain Goblets

They drained their goblets, and got to their feet, still wondering, but with a sudden, strange boldness in their stance, and fiery brightness in their looks. It disturbed the widow to see it.

Then their voices thundered again in the exuberant gratitude of the hymn of hallel: "O give thanks unto the Lord for He is God: for His mercy endureth forever."

With a parting sign, they slipped on their sandals and tied them, as they crossed the yard, Mary saw Jesus pause, looking back at this house He had honored.

"In my Father's house," He said, "are many mansions... I go to prepare a place for you... that where I am, there ye may be also."

She caught her breath, and suddenly she saw her son, stealing along behind the disciples and out the gate toward some unknown danger, with only two swords among them.

She ran down the stairs and out the door, crying out his name softly, but Mark was gone. She could see nothing but the ragged black outline of the palms against the sky, but out of the darkness came that steady voice, "... Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

Driver Fined

Milwaukeean Pleads
No Contest to Charge at Chilton

Chilton — The driver of a car involved in a fatal accident was fined $100 by Justice Leo Kartheiser Monday for reckless driving.

Theodore Klekamp, 19, Milwaukee, pleaded no contest to the charge. His car collided head-on with one in which Harold Bosma, 22, Oshkosh, was killed Feb. 1 on Highway 57, four miles south of Chilton.

Klekamp was found negligent by a coroner's jury March 24.

Man's Imagination
He pointed them to the Old Testament scriptures, which identified Jesus as the Savior sent by God from heaven.

Because Jesus is the Son of God... He knows all about heaven and can tell us the way to heaven. People may make up their own ideas about the way to heaven. All of these ideas of men are cast aside by the absolute word of Jesus," he declared. "Our text tells us that the heavenly Father places his seal upon Jesus. This assures us that Jesus is the Son of God from heaven and His word concerning our salvation is true."

The thoughts, the feelings and the imagination of man will not change the truth of God. Whoever believes that Jesus is the Son of God who suffered and died on the cross to pay for the sins of the world, has forgiveness of sins and eternal life. All who do not believe this... will be eternally damned, he said.

File Petition for Water District in Town of Menasha

Residents Near Spring Road
School Seek Common Well Supply

Menasha — Petition for establishment of sanitary district No. 5 to provide water services to an area near the Spring Road school was filed at Monday night's meeting of the town of Menasha board.

The board will review the legality of the petition and then call for a public hearing.

The district seeking establishment of a sanitary district is a quarter of a mile wide and a half mile long. It includes the Zeh and Schneider plats on the north side of Highway 150 west of Highway 41 and the Spring Road school on the south side of Highway 150.

Some wells in that area had been condemned because of surface water seeping into the wells. The school well had been condemned but now is approved because a chlorinator was added to purify the water. The petitioners are seeking a common well serving the area.

Commissioners
The board appointed Ben Mundt to a 3-year term and Emil Francek to a 1-year term as commissioners for sanitary district No. 2 which comprises the Lynch plat area along the north side of Highway 47 west of Memorial drive at Appleton. F. J. Miller is the holdover commissioner.

The town board set Monday as the day to look over the condition of the town roads.

UW Director To be Speaker For Council

Dr. Robert Samp
To Tell Progress
In Cancer Research

Neenah — Dr. Robert J. Samp, medical and scientific director of Wisconsin division of American Cancer society, will discuss new scientific developments in the field of cancer at the Tuesday Community council luncheon at Menasha Elks club.

Dr. Samp is assistant professor in the department of surgery, tumor clinic, University of Wisconsin hospitals. He has given cancer information talks to about 1,200 audiences in 300 cities in 40 states.

He has been the featured speaker at numerous multi-state medical and dental meetings and was the key speaker for the American Cancer society's 1958 national kick-off program in Chicago.

His talks are aimed at the 85,000 Americans who die needlessly each year of curable types of cancer due to ignorance about cancer, indifference, fear, quacks or misinformation about the disease.

Dr. Samp received his pre-medical and medical training at the University of Wisconsin, served his internship in Milwaukee and three years of surgical residency at the University hospitals, Madison.

Mrs. Milton Gaertner is in charge of luncheon reservations.

Set Council Meeting for Bar License

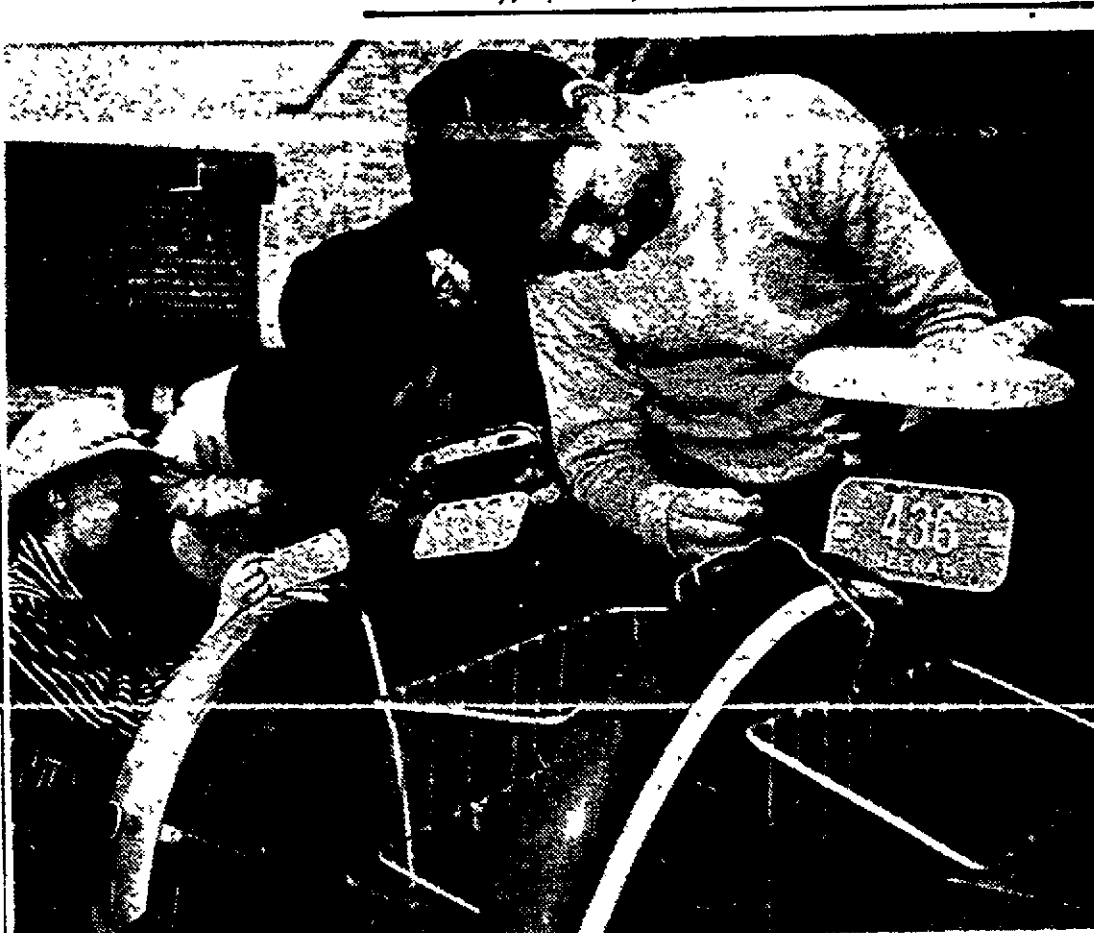

Menasha — The common council will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to resolve a tavern license dispute involving Earl Peters and Marcus Theaters, Inc.

Peters twice has been unsuccessful in securing council permission to transfer his liquor license from the Brin bowling alleys to two other Main street locations. In both, Chief of Police Peter P. Clark has recommended against the move and as yet has not publicly explained his reasons.

The same license is sought by the Brin building's management for the alleys, so liquor again can be sold there. Marcus Theaters officials have contended the operation is not profitable without a liquor license. A beer license is in the alleys.

Menasha has been over its quota of liquor licenses since the quota was established many years ago by the legislature on the basis of one per 500 population.

However, the city attorney and council are trying to determine whether the license issued for a street level tavern in the Brin building also can cover the bowling alleys. If the Marcus firm would hold the license and act as manager of both bars.

Bicycles Belonging to Students were checked at Columbus school prior to licensing. From left are James Pulling, bicycle check committee chairman; Steve Melchert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Melchert; Ray Wiese, PTA institutional representative for Cub Scouts; Appleton Policeman Daniel Gillis, who supervised the inspection; and Michael Pulling, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Pulling.

Menasha Republicans To Meet at Library

Menasha — Although Mrs. Byron Ising, Oshkosh, national Republican committee woman for Wisconsin, and Mrs. Norris Krohn, Oshkosh, will be unable to attend, the Menasha Republican club will continue its "Campaign for '60" plan when it meets at the Elisha D. Smith library auditorium at 7:30 tonight, Roger Sweet, chairman, said today.

will be discontinued. Two above-ground activities rooms will be continued as classrooms, although some conversion work will be done on them.

(The three basement rooms are being so used contrary to the state department of public instruction, which has tolerated the condition because the parish has been planning the school addition. Permanent use would be prohibited.)

Also in error in the story was the size of each of the six new classrooms. Each will be 28 by 32 feet in size, with 896 square feet of floor area.

Missing Lines Alter Meaning Of Paragraph

Menasha — Monday's story on the St. Patrick parish convent and school addition building program, explained at Sunday's annual meeting, lacked several lines of type which entirely changed the meaning of one paragraph. The lines were lost in composition.

The parish will spend up to $425,000, borrowing up to $360,000, for the two projects. Construction will begin about June.

The paragraph should have read: "With the addition, use of basement rooms for classes

Lake Poygan Ice Shove Damages Homes, Trailers

Winchester—Monday afternoon's strong wind pushed Lake Poygan ice chunks up onto the shore on the east end of the lake, damaging cottages and house trailers in the area.

The ice blocks extended inward as far as 30 feet and piled up to heights of 15 feet. The warm weather to riding on the lake and along the shore caused more of the ice to melt, residents in the area said.

House trailers used as permanent residences along the shore had to be towed away by truck to avoid future damage if a strong wind should develop again.

Girl to Undergo Heart Operation

Construction of chairs, interlocking joints which gives the greatest strength to wooden furniture, and the size of the furniture in relation to the size of the room also will be discussed.

Family Budget Should Include Health Items

Neenah — Does your family budget include health items? A good rule is to put away 2 per cent of your income to cover regular medical and dental examinations, colds, flu and other minor illnesses and the drugs and medicine to treat them.

The second health item in the budget is for the unexpected. About 3 per cent of your income spent on insurance can give you protection for large hospital and medical expenses. A health plan is important for the family early in marriage, as children grow up and finally for those in their older years.

Dodgers Send Frank Howard To Spokane

Los Angeles —R— Rookie slugger Frank Howard, formerly with the Green Bay Bluejays of the Three-I league, Monday was optioned to Spokane by the Los Angeles Dodgers as they cut their roster to 28 for today's National league season opener.

The Dodger management said it was "encouraged by the showing the 6-foot-7 Howard made this spring, but we feel he needs experience playing first base and attention to his hitting, and we feel it would be all wrong leaving him on the bench with the parent club."

Club officials said Howard's possible return this season "depends upon the Dodger needs and how he looks at Spokane."

Place Bobby Avila On Restricted List

Milwaukee —R— The Milwaukee Braves have placed holdout Bobby Avila on the restricted list.

Avila, a 33-year-old second baseman who hit .238 in 51 games last year, was acquired by the Braves from the Boston Red Sox. With the return of "Red" Schoendienst, Avila does not figure too much in Milwaukee's plans.

The Braves, however, retain rights to his services by placing him on the restricted list.

Naming Race Horse Isn't an Easy Task

Miami —R— Here's how Leonard Fruchtmann's fine horse Bally Ache got its name:

A list of five names had been prepared for consideration of The Jockey club, and one more was needed. "It's a bellyache ever getting a name for a race horse," said trainer Jimmy Pitt.

"That makes No. 6," said Fruchtmann. The colt was sired by Ballydam.

'Big O's' Future Is A Major Question

May Join Globetrotters Rather Than Play With Royal '5'

New York —R— The big question among the National Basketball association brass today was:

Will Oscar Robertson cast his lot with the league or will he go with the Harlem Globetrotters?

They won't have their answer until after the Olympics this summer, because the University of Cincinnati All-America is a member of the U. S. team that will compete in Rome.

Robertson, who piled up a record-breaking 2,973 points during his collegiate career, was selected by the Cincinnati Royals at the annual NBA draft session Monday.

If he decides to join the Royals, it would mean a great shot in the arm for the financially troubled Cincinnati club. There have been rumors that the Royals were staying in business waiting for the day when Robertson would don a Cincinnati uniform.

All told, 101 college players were drafted. Cincinnati led all the other teams with 21 selections.

Jerry West of West Virginia was the second man taken. He went to Minneapolis. Darrall Imhoff of California was selected by the New York Knickerbockers on the first round. Jackie Moreland of Louisiana Tech went to Detroit, and Lee Shaffer of North Carolina was chosen by Syracuse. Len Wilkins of Providence was picked by St. Louis. Al Bunge of Maryland was chosen by Philadelphia, and Boston took Tom Sanders of New York university. Walt Mangham of Marquette was a tenth pick, by New York.

FRVC Golf Test Slated For Appleton

The tourney will be held May 21 at the Butte des Morts Golf club, starting at 7 a.m. and running to about 1 p.m. The BDM board of directors recently voted to grant AHS' request to use the course for the conference meet and the FRVC then awarded the meet to Appleton High.

AHS is also playing host to the conference tennis tournament the same day.

Writer Deplores Stand Taken by Council on Packer Seating Issue

Opposition to Stadium Expansion Will Have Bad Effect Around NFL, Says Daley

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — It's too bad the Packers won't get the 5,000 extra seats at City stadium.

Look at the schedule — The Bears, Lions, Colts and Dallas Cowboys. . . It's conceivable and darned probable that three of those could be sold out with crowds of 37,500 and the other could reach 35,000 or more!

This undoubtedly is the best Green Bay schedule the Packers have ever had — the club's two bitterest rivals; the world champs led by John Unitas; and major league sports' most unique creation, Dallas.

Too bad, for sure, but it goes much deeper than the schedule.

Big Talking Point
One of the Packers' biggest talking points at the now-historic league meeting in Miami was Green Bay's plan to boost seating capacity of City stadium by 5,000 seats. This in the face of opposition from the American Football league, was, indeed, a bold stroke — a real inspiration to the "giants" of the NFL. We shudder to wonder what they're thinking around the league now.

People outside Green Bay and Wisconsin have various ideas of the Packer owner.

Denissen Asks Both Sides to Start Over

Green Bay —R— Mayor Roman Denissen grabbed the ball and ran Monday in the bit of a family discussion between the city and the Green Bay Packers over more seats and higher rent for City stadium.

Denissen, who offered to call a special huddle of the common council, suggested that current play be suspended and that both sides return to the kickoff point in the negotiations—a suggestion by the Packers that they pay for the seats and give them to the city in exchange for the rental agreement the club wants.

Original Proposal
In their original proposal March 3, the club said it was willing to pay the $100,000 cost of the 5,000 new seats which would boost capacity to 37,250.

The council's stadium commission agreed, but with a condition that the Packers also pay their rental payment for 1960 and 1961 by $20,000 a year to $50,000. The city wants the money to light the field for prep play.

The Packers never replied to the condition, possibly because it was lost in a flurry of other plans.

Last Friday, the Packers rejected an aldermen-approved plan that calls for the city to build the seats and the Packers to boost their rental payment to $50,000 this year and next and $42,500 annually for eight years after that.

Stand-Pat Lineup Will Face Cubs

By The Associated Press

Can the Dodgers do it again? Have the Giants found the pitching? Can Chuck Dressen regain the touch with the Braves or can the Braves regain the touch with Chuck Dressen?

The answer to one question will answer them all, and the National league got to work on the quiz today, opening the 1960 baseball season a week ahead of the American league.

The world champion Dodgers, still at home in the spacious and audacious Los Angeles coliseum, open with a night game against the Chicago Cubs.

Giants Face Cards
Milwaukee's Braves, who lost the 1959 pennant in a play-off with the Dodgers, and the San Francisco Giants, popular pre-season picks, open at home in afternoon games—the Braves against Pittsburgh and the Giants in their new Candlestick park against St. Louis.

The Cincinnati Reds, as usual, also opened at home, against Philadelphia.

It's right-hander Don Drysdale against the Cubs and right-hander Bob Anderson. Dodger manager Walt Alton has named virtually the same line-up that won it all last season—Gil Hodges at first; Charlie Neal at second; Maury Wills at short; Junior Gilliam at third; Wally Moon, Don Demeter and Duke Snider in the outfield; and John Roseboro behind the plate.

The Cubs, with Charlie Grimm replacing Bob Scheffing for his third stand as manager, have four new faces among the starters, but only one is a rookie. Richie Ashburn, late of the Phillies, is in center; Frank Thomas, last with Cincinnati, in left; Don Zimmer, long a Dodger, at third, and newcomer Lou Johnson in right.

The Giants, who blew a 2-game lead in the last 10 days of the season a year ago, picked 21-game winner Sam Jones for their debut in the new 15-million-dollar park against the Cards and right-hander Larry Jackson (14-13).

Manager Bill Rigney, on the spot in what shapes up as another 3-way fight with the Dodgers and Braves, has Don Blasingame at second base, but the rest of the Giant line-up is about the same. The big difference is in the bullpen and on the bench with the addition of pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore, Dale Long from the Cubs and Jim Marshall from Boston.

Right fielder Leon Wagner and shortstop Daryl Spencer, whom the Giants gave up to get Blasingame as a leadoff hitter, were in Manager Solly Hemus' starting line-up for the Cards.

Catches 6 Bass Using Foam Rubber for Bait

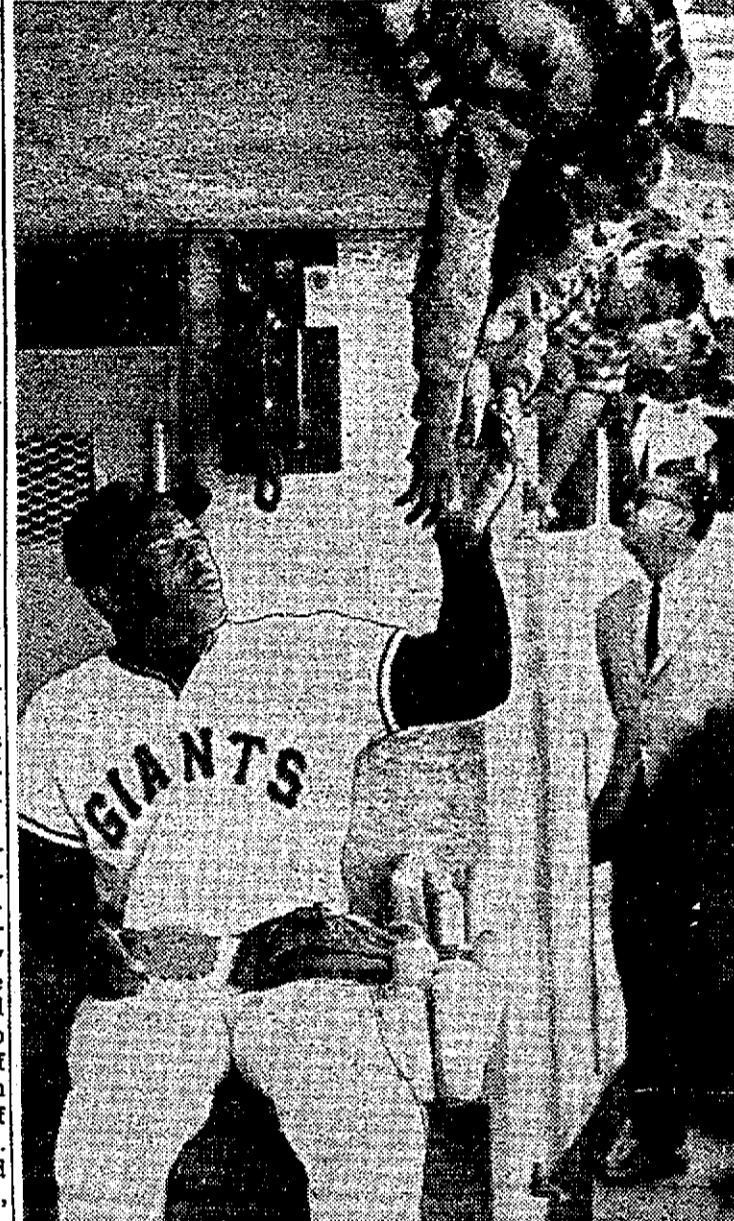

Tappahannock, Va. —R— The fish just weren't biting on the artificial bait James Gregory was using.

His companion, Miss Gladys Gauding, noticed a big school of striped bass striking on the surface and decided to try something else. She tore up a foam rubber cushion, put hunks of it on her hook and caught six bass in quick succession.

Gregory caught nothing.

Boston Turns Thomson Into a First Baseman

Jurges Says Team Needs Right-Handed Power; Ron Jackson Proves Flop

St. Petersburg, Fla. —R— Bobby Thomson has been asked to perform the second miracle of his baseball career. He will make his first base debut when he begins his fifteenth major league season with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Billy Jurges today announced the 36-year-old "Flying Scot" must answer the Sox' desperate need for right-handed power. In short, Thomson must fill the offensive gap left by the retirement of Jackie Jensen.

It was nine years ago, as every schoolboy knows, that Thomson knocked the New York Giants into the National league pennant with his last-ditch, 3-run homer against the Brooklyn Dodgers in a playoff game.

Now Thomson is beginning an intensive training program under Coach Rudy York, first baseman on Boston's 1946 American league champions.

Washington Whips White Sox, 7 to 3

Mincher Raps 3 Hits; Orioles Gain Tie for AL Exhibition Lead

By The Associated Press
Nobody can blame Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez if he is wondering these days where all that pitching is going to come from to help win another American league pennant.

Pitching, supposedly one of the Sox' strong points, is floundering. Sox pitchers have been reached for 34 runs in the last six games and only Bob Shaw has a respectable earned run average.

Shaw's ERA is 2.35. Early Wynn went up to 3.81 Monday after getting battered by Washington. Barry Latman has a 10.90 average, Billy Pierce 5.00 and Dick Donovan 6.54.

The Senators, led by rookie Don Mincher, downed the White Sox, 7-3. Mincher, acquired from Washington in the Roy Sievers deal, hit two singles and a triple to boost his exhibition game average to .526.

In other games, Baltimore moved into a tie with the White Sox for the AL's exhibition lead by beating Kansas City, 5-2; Cleveland edged Detroit, 5-3, in 11 innings, and Boston defeated New York, 3-1.

Faye Thronberry's double brought in Mincher, who tripled, with the winning tally in the 4-run eighth. The Senators pounded Wynn — a 22-game winner last season — for 11 hits in eight innings. Don Lee, who hurled the first seven frames, won it for Washington.

Brooks Robinson and Gene Green homered for the Orioles to back Arnold Portocarrero's seven innings of shut-out pitching. Portocarrero struck out two, walked two and allowed only one Athletic base runner to reach third in his best performance of the spring.

"Rocky" Colavito rapped his second double in the eleven-inning drive in pinch-runner Carroll Hardy for the deciding run against the Tigers.

Jerry Casale and Mike Fornieles checked the Yankees on three hits after the Red Sox had put it out of reach in the first inning with three unearned runs off pitcher Whitely Ford. Casale yielded two hits in six innings, including a Mickey Mantle round-tripper.

Bears Capture Practice Tilt From Kimberly

Four Hortonville Pitchers Yield 2 Hits in 8-3 Win

Hortonville — The Hortonville High school baseball team shaded Kimberly, 8-3, in a practice game Monday afternoon in Hortonville. A very strong wind hampered pitchers' control.

Both teams used all their hurlers. Working for the winning Polar Bears were: Lon Kringle, Fran Schmelzel, Larry Collar and Ken Schmelzel. Kringle allowed no hits in the first three innings but walked three and hit two batters in the second to give Kimberly its first two runs. Fran Schmelzel gave up one hit in two innings, a home run to Jim Siebers. Collar and Ken Schmelzel each pitched scoreless ball. The four pitchers combined for 12 strikeouts.

VanderVelden Starts
Kimberly's Jeff VanderVelden started, and left in the second inning. He allowed four runs in the first and three in the second, trailing, 7-2, when he departed. Tim Jury gave up one run in the next three innings. Alan Schmidt finished up in the 7-inning game allowing no runs over two innings.

Ed Jungwirth had two singles and drove in three runs for the winners. One of the safeties were kept from going over the fence by the wind. Kimberly got just two hits — the homer and a single. Hortonville totaled five hits, all singles.

The Polar Bears welcome Clintonville for a 3:30 p.m. game Thursday. Kimberly visits Freedom Wednesday.

Area Bowling

Vandenberg's 609 Leads At Sherwood

Floyd Vandenberg blasted pins at a 609 pace in the latest session of Sherwood Businessmen's league bowling. One of his games was a 236.

Haen Insurance (48-33) topped two games and is four lines in front of the field. Other honor scores: Bob Prusynski, 594; Don Kobs, 576; Hilary Miller 552.

Hilda Defferding rattled a 515 for Landwehr and Hackl in the National Couples wheel at Twelve Corners. One of her games was a 200. Big Shoe (28-11) leads by four games with just one session of action remaining.

'Flash' Elorde's Manager Okays Rematch Terms
Manila — The manager of world junior lightweight champion "Flash" Elorde said today an offer to stage the title rematch between Elorde and the dethroned Harold Gomes in San Francisco June 29 is acceptable.

Manager Lope Sarreal said he agreed with the terms and conditions offered by American promoter Dewey Frageta except for "some minor details." He did not elaborate.

The contract for the match has not yet been signed, but Sarreal said, "We are giving Gomes some leeway." Under the return-bout clause, the contract was to have been signed within 20 days.

Gomes, from Providence, R. I., lost his title to Elorde last March 16 in a seventh-round knockout here.

Leafs Hope to Start Winning On Home Ice

Stanley Cup Play Resumes Tonight In Toronto

Toronto — The jet-propelled Montreal Canadiens hope to take up where they left off in Montreal when they meet the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the third game of the Stanley cup final playoffs.

The Canadiens hold a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series after two victories on their own ice. Now they must face "Punch" Imlach's crew in its lair but seemed totally unconcerned about the foreign surroundings.

Bernard "Boom Boom" Geoffrion, Henri Richard and Jean Beliveau paused and smiled for a photographer and reporter who welcomed them.

"We'll make up for it when we walk out again Thursday — with the Stanley cup," Henri said.

The fourth game is set for Thursday night and that's the time many hockey observers figure the Canadiens will win the cup for the fifth consecutive season.

But the Leafs, who started out as 1-to-5 underdogs, have been anything but pushovers. They dropped the opener, 4-2, and the second game, 2-1 — a contest that could have gone the other way.

Win Next Two
"I'll tell you something," Imlach said. "We'll win the next two at home if that's the best the Canadiens can do."

Montreal Coach "Toe" Blake, who shudders at the thought of making predictions, had only this comment: "We will be given as many penalties as the Leafs, or more, mark my word."

Imlach had another forecast. "When we start killing the Canadiens," he said, "Pappy will be the guy who shows us how." Pappy is 33-year-old Bert Olmstead, an 11-year NHL veteran and a Montreal castoff.

The Canadiens have an old-timer on their roster who can show them all how to win games. He is the incomparable Maurice Richard, the game's all-time high scorer.

The 38-year-old "Rocket" is overdue. He has managed only one assist in six playoff games this year.

Sturdivant Key Bosox Pitcher

Yankee, KC Castoff Now Feels Wanted

New Orleans — Tom Sturdivant, the guy nobody wanted, today ranks as the key man on the Boston Red Sox pitching staff.

Sporting a strong arm, a wringing curve ball and a 3.00 spring earned run average, Sturdivant is a happy man a week from the start of the American League season.

"I've got to feel wanted," said the big right-hander who will be 30 later this month. "I wasn't at New York or Kansas City but I am here. It changes everything — my outlook and my pitching."

"Our pitching is better than it was at the end of last year," said Manager Billy Jurges who is here with the team for a weekend exhibition series with Cleveland.

"Our improvement has to be in this department and Sturdivant is the key man in the figuring. He has looked good all spring."

A sore arm plunged Sturdivant from a 1956-game winner for New York to a 3-6 mark in 1958. The Yanks traded him to Kansas City last year and on Dec. 3 the Red Sox acquired him from the A's for catcher Pete Daley.

Toledo, Ohio — Only three 700 series were rolled in the singles event of the fifty-eighth American Bowling congress championships during the first five weeks. But in the last three days someone has bettered 700 each day.

The man to do it Monday was Francis Chartrand, a 39-year-old St. Louis accountant. He opened with 233, added another 233 and closed with 247 for a 713 that was good for fourth place. Chartrand had a 528 score with his team and 631 in doubles for the day's best all-events total, 1,872.

Giants Hit None Over Wall In First Candlestick Park Drill

San Francisco — The ballplayers, make no mistake, have their work cut out for them in Candlestick park, spanking new home of the San Francisco Giants.

The cheap home run, especially for the right handed hitters, is all but impossible.

First and third base foul lines are so deep many balls that usually go into the lower stands now will be catchable. The infielders must run and run.

The infield is fast, lightning fast.

Stu Bartell Maintains Vigil, Praying That Charlie Mohr Will Recover

BY ED CORRIKAN
New York — "We're good friends . . . why, only a few minutes before the bout we were talking . . . we always talked about boxing to each other before our bouts . . . and then this had to happen."

Stu Bartell, a husky 23-year-old San Jose State college junior, spoke in a choked voice today as he maintained a vigil in his Brooklyn home praying that Charlie Mohr would recover.

It was Bartell who stopped Mohr in the second round of of the department of psychiatry at Wisconsin's medical school, said Mohr recently had been a patient in the psychiatric unit of the hospital.

Dr. Flinn, who also is head of the student health center, said operating doctors suspected that a condition existed which made Mohr's blood vessels "more than normally susceptible to injury."

Mohr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mohr of Merrick, N.Y., and two of his sisters remained near.

In 1948, a group of faculty members at the university investigated boxing at the school. A survey team held that boxing under college rules was not harmful and the athletic board of the university accepted the report and the sport was continued. Wisconsin is the only Big Ten School that sponsors boxing.

Officials declined to comment on its future at the university.

Yost Says Sievers Deal Helped Senators Fill in Their Holes

Sarasota, Fla. — Eddie Yost, a favorite with the fans, was traded by the Washington Senators to the Detroit Tigers in 1958.

When the Senators recently traded Roy Sievers, another favorite, to the Chicago White Sox, Yost made this comment:

"I'd say the Mats sacrificed some power in losing Roy . . . but then, they have a lot of power left. You've got to fill in your holes and balance your club."

"And, if the stories are true about President Calvin Griffith getting $150,000, I'd say he made himself the deal of the year."

Giants Hit None Over Wall In First Candlestick Park Drill

St. Louis and not one ball was hit out of the park by the club's vaunted right-handed sluggers.

Willie Mays clubbed a ball high and far. Bystanders thought it was a cinch homer. But the ball dropped just short of the fence sign marked 397 feet.

Willie, a bit disgruntled after putting two in the same spot, commented:

"This park is big, too big."

He added, "Somebody's gonna take some terrible salary cuts around here."

The left and right field foul lines go 335 feet with the fence fanning out to 397 on both sides and 420 in dead center.

Writer Raps City's Stand On Expansion

ship. The most common question is merely that "They're city owned, aren't they?" That isn't exactly true; community owned might better describe it.

No Other City
And it's equally hard to imagine for this writer. We've looked back at Green Bay from stadiums that would comfortably seat the entire population of our town and wondered just what in blazes are we doing in the league in the first place. No other city of our size will ever have a major league organization.

The city of Green Bay recognized all this when it entered into an agreement with the Packers to build the present stadium. Purpose of that construction was to keep the Packers here and keep them competitive in the league.

This had been the city's thinking all along — until the seat expansion plans came up. Now, there has been a change of attitude, judging by the city's effort to burden the Packers with steadily increasing rent. That's a foreboding thought!

Some may argue that the Packers can give the city "more money."

The Bays are fresh from one of their best years, artistically and financially.

But what of the future? The Packers are in a precarious business at best. A couple of rainy Sundays in Milwaukee for instance, could put them in the red. What about a losing streak? They need every bit of surplus they can pile up. Nobody's running off with it. They're a non-profit organization. Remember?

Here's a question: How does the value of the Packers to the city of Green Bay compare with the value of the city to the Packers?

3 More Bays Call Loss To Bears the Toughest

Carpenter, Hornung Agree in Poll of Players

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — Another chapter of the Green Bay-Packers player quiz:

The questions being asked among Packers veterans are: (1) What game did you get the biggest thrill out of winning? (2) What game was the toughest loss? and (3) What do you think of the Packers' chances in 1960?

The latest answers were received from Joe Francis, Paul Hornung, Bob Skoronski, Lew Carpenter and Bob Freeman.

Their votes — plus those from five players whose answers were revealed earlier — lifted the Bear loss (23-17 in Chicago) into a tie with the Colt setback in Milwaukee (28-24), with four votes each.

The victory over the 49ers moved into a tie with the opening day triumph over the Bears, with three votes apiece.

Quarterback Francis, who is now selling insurance out in Corvallis, Ore., picked the 9-6 triumph over the Bears as his top drill. "It showed to our team and fans of Green Bay that we had a team that could win and win big," said Joe.

Toughest Loss
Francis selected the 20-3 loss to the Giants in New York as his toughest game to lose. "I single that game out because the Giants were right up there then and being that I played quite a bit against them it was a tough one to lose. You couldn't help but feel that you let down the team at the wrong time."

Carpenter, now selling advertising for Channel 11,

IT'S BETTER TO USE A 4-WOOD IF THE LIE IS QUESTIONABLE

GOLF Wood Tip

Don't use fairway woods unless the lie permits. And never use a 3-wood where the lie dictates that you use a 4-wood or even a No. 2 iron. It's far better to use a 4-wood where the distance calls for a 3-wood if the lie is questionable. It's better to give away 10 or 15 yards than to risk blowing the shot completely.

Freeman — "I think our chances are more than good because we were a much better ball club the latter part of last year. Midway through our season our offense began to jell. We showed the other teams that we had the threats and could get the quick touchdown."

Skoronski — "We should be more successful next year since we're a young team and we're bound to improve."

Economy's Turns Crucial to Nixon

BY SYLVIA PORTER
 How business acts in the next 30 days will be crucial to the chances of Richard Nixon to win the White House fall.

This is about as hard-headed an economic view of the political outlook as you could get. It has nothing to do with Sen. Kennedy's victory in Wisconsin or other political developments.

There are, in fact, signs that Nixon is becoming painfully aware that his political fate in November actually could be decided by economic trends in April - May and Nixon wasn't talking only obvious politics when in Nebraska a fortnight ago, he remarked "Anyone who does not recognize that we are in for the fight of our lives must be smoking opium." There is reason to suspect that President Eisenhower didn't do Nixon any particular favor when in Washington a few days later he said the vice president would be "absolutely stupid" and "very foolish. . . if he didn't see that he is going to build on what has been so far accomplished. . . ."

Behind this story lies one basic point—the GOP's open plan to campaign on the powerful theme of "peace and prosperity." I'll concentrate just on the "prosperity" half of the theme.

1. These are the days of test for our economy's strength. There can be no more "wait and see" talk, no more excuses for the economy because of the late Easter, awful winter weather, overexuberant expectations at the year-end. This is it—spring, time for major upturn.

2. As of this date, the most significant indicators of the economy's power are still not perking up as strongly as they must if the economy is to be really prosperous this fall.

There are "leading indicators" with telegraph months in advance the direction of the economy. As one illustration, the total of new orders placed now with manufacturers foretells how active manufacturing will be several months from now. The last three monthly reports have been pointing downward. The total of contracts awarded for construction in these months foretells how active building will be in summer-fall. Construction indicators also are still pointing down.

3. If these and other leading indicators of business turn upward in the immediate future, fine—we'll all breathe easier, including Nixon. But if they do not, you may be sure America's responsible, informed citizens are not going to sit silently and wait for trouble to hit.

4. If recession is looming for fall and 1961, pressures are going to mount for improvement of such key anti-recession weapons as unemployment insurance. New legislation to stimulate activity will get increasing support. Concerned voters surely will insist that our candidates take definite stands on whether they support tax cuts or greatly expanded federal spending or both to counter a downturn.

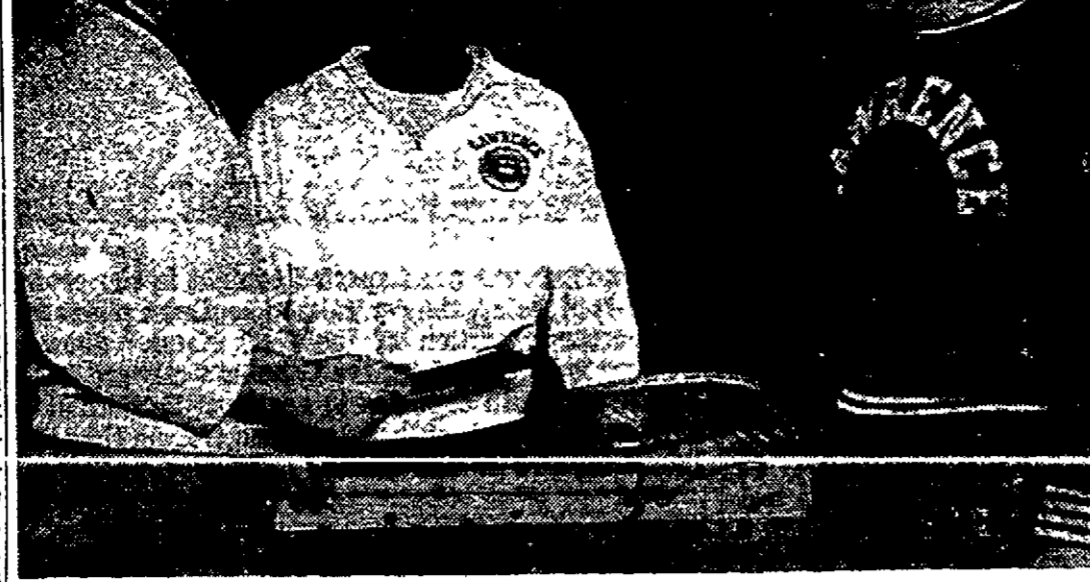

Nixon will not be able to speak only behind the scenes, for Eisenhower has invited him to get out in front. Whatever he says to reassure voters on his determination to act aggressively to keep our nation prosperous and growing is virtually certain to alienate many within the GOP whose political help he needs.

5. In addition, the entire economic pattern flashes the probability that the consumer price level will be touching all-time peaks as the time for voting nears. It won't be "inflation"—not by a long shot. But the tilt of the price level continues upward.

A combination of a faltering economy and a record high cost of living is not to be counted out at election time—scarcely the plank the GOP has been anticipating. At the top level in Washington what I've written here is being seriously discussed. Nixon is no opium smoker. I'll bet that in private, he's worrying actively about what I've reported here.

Johnson Joins 'Alumni Club' At Pittsburgh

Detroit — (AP) — Old Detroit Lions never die, they just go to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The latest to join the "Lion alumni club" in Pittsburgh is fullback John Henry Johnson.

Detroit traded Johnson to Pittsburgh Monday for the top Steeler draft choice in 1961 and 1962.

Johnson joins such other former Detroit problem children as quarterback Bobby Layne and back Tom Tracy on the Steelers coached by former Lion Coach Buddy Parker. Although Layne and Tracy had some troubles in the Lion camp, they have flourished at Pittsburgh.

Chemicals Lost In $1 Million Fire

Cincinnati — (AP) — Fire destroyed at least $1 million worth of chemical products at a storehouse of Matheson Company, Inc., in nearby Norwood Monday.

The blaze swept the building and menaced three other buildings in the facility, called the Matheson, Coleman and Bell division.

Kenneth Hoag, sales manager who estimated the loss at at least $1,500,000, said the fire apparently started when a metal rack buckled, dumping glass jars of combustible chemicals on a concrete floor.

No injuries were reported. Sixty-seven employees were evacuated from the plant.

The company is a chemical processor.

Sen. Wiley Favors National Voters' Day

Washington — (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley (Wis.) said today he was in favor of creating a National Voters' day to "stimulate interest in greater voter participation at the polls."

Wiley, in a statement, said the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November of each year would be the best day. He said it should not be a national legal holiday.

"Too many of our citizens are staying home on election day," he said. "The low level of voter participation results in rule, not by majority, but by a minority."

Origin, Nature Of American Indian Outlined

TV, Movies Often Not Accurate, Lions Club Told

The American Indian — where he came from and what he was like, was outlined for the Appleton Lions club Tuesday.

Speaker was Jack Yuenger, promotion manager of the Green Bay Press-Gazette and a former history instructor at St. Norbert college, DePere.

From under a large eagle feather headdress, Yuenger said TV westerns and the movies have given the public a false picture of the Indian.

Migrated From Asia

Contrary to impressions created by the mass media, Yuenger asserted, the early Indians were very human as a people, had a sense of humor, a culture and much pride.

"One of the great things to an Indian was his word, and he would rather die than break it."

Among the several theories of where the Indians came from, the most accepted is that they migrated from Asia across the Bering strait about 14,000 to 20,000 years ago, he said. This would make him a stone age man.

No Written Language

He was a nomad and brought with him very little — stone implements, fire and dogs. The horse was not known to the Indian until the invasion by Europeans, Yuenger said.

He was a "baby-like" creature in the new land, and being faced with new animals and objects, he saw God in everything. "For this reason he didn't kill wantonly," Yuenger said. He noted the Indian was a very spiritual and moral man.

One of the Indian's greatest handicaps was his failure to develop a written language. He developed a folklore of stories and as these were passed down they were magnified to the point where it became difficult to tell truth from fiction. The folklore is expressed in tribal dances, Yuenger said.

Of the six major Indian groups, as determined by language rather than physical characteristics, Wisconsin is unique in having three, he said. The Menominees were a branch of the Algonquin, the Winnebago a branch of the Sioux, and the Oneida a branch of the Iroquois.

In 1634, when Nicolet landed at Red Banks, the Wisconsin Indian population was about 12,000.

The advent of the white man led to decay of the Indian nations, he said. The Spanish, who went to south and Central America for gold and adventure, conquered the Incas. The French did not have a profound effect on the Indians because they went the way of the fur trappers and were dispersed as they intermarried with the Indians.

The British, however, were strong and came with a definite plan for settlement.

Gave Crops

They brought liquor, disease, the gun and the idea of land ownership. Indians, because they had not previously been exposed, had no tolerance for simple diseases or liquor and both took their toll, Yuenger said.

The gun made the Indian dependent on the white man for powder and repairs. The more durable metal utensils brought by the white man also made the Indian subservient to him, the speaker added.

In exchange, the Indian gave the white man 14 basic agricultural crops, such as corn and tobacco.

Indian warfare developed as the Indians were pushed constantly westward until they were concentrated in the far west, he said.

Red Cross Unit Honors Pair for Saving Youth

Madison — (AP) — The Wisconsin unit of the national Red Cross reported today the awarding of citations to two young men for saving the life of a 17-year-old boy in a swimming mishap near Medford July 19.

Arthur Peike, 17, of Withee, untrained in swimming, went down 50 feet from shore in the Mondeaux flowage when he was spotted by Kenneth Schauer, 17, of Spencer, and Theodore Predoehl, 22, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore C. G. Predoehl of Withee. The pair pulled Petke from the water and applied artificial respiration that resulted in recovery.

The incident occurred during a Lutheran Walther league picnic. Schauer and Predoehl had received Red Cross life saving and first aid training.

Staff to View Unit Ventilators

Board Undecided About Specification For Edison School

In order to help the board of education decide what kind of unit ventilators to install in the new Edison school, the business affairs director and superintendent of buildings and grounds will go to Chicago and Milwaukee to see two types.

The choice is between Trane, a belt-driven model, and Herman Nelson, which has direct drive. It would cost $250 more to equip the school with Herman Nelson than with Trane ventilators. Original specifications were for Trane, because the school's convectors and climate changers are to be Trane, Architect Raymond N. LeVeé said.

The Herman Nelson ventilator will be on display at the school board convention in Chicago April 24 to 26 and the Trane ventilator in Milwaukee April 26 to 28. The business affairs director and buildings and grounds superintendent were authorized to take the trip because some board members said they themselves would not learn anything by seeing the ventilators.

The board named Clarence Baetz, of LeVeé and Associates, to be clerk of the works to superintend construction of the Edison school.

Hearings Aimed at Prevention of More Quiz, Payola Scandals

Washington — (AP) — A house subcommittee opens hearings today on far-reaching proposals aimed at preventing a recurrence of the quiz show and payola scandals.

Chairman Frederick W. Ford of the Federal Communications commission was called as the opening witness on legislation to impose new curbs on the broadcasting industry.

Spokesmen for the National Association of Broadcasters and the big television-radio networks also were expected to testify during the initial round of hearings today and tomorrow.

Altogether, the house commerce subcommittee has before it more than a dozen bills signed to eliminate deceit, cheating and other alleged irregularities in TV and radio.

Brown county has been without a president since last September. The election of Pierce ends speculation that the selection of a president might be delayed until after the annual meeting April 18. At that time interests associated with T. M. Evans, chairman of H. K. Porter company, Inc., Boston.

Pittsburgh, will go on the board. The new board will consist of nine members, a reduction from 14 currently. Of the new board, six are incumbent directors and the three new members are associates of Evans. Pierce is 43 years old and a native of Houlton, Maine. Spring Hits With Sun, Balmly Blow

The weather is warm, sunny and windy in the Fox Cities. It was near perfect spring weather Monday. Today is no exception, either.

By 10 a.m. today the temperature had already hit 59, the high recorded Monday.

April showers are expected Wednesday and more warm weather and sunshine may make the grass turn green for Easter.

A full moon Monday night gave much time for dreaming as balmly breezes skipped around. The low during the night was 37.

The dry weather and winds are just what the doctor ordered for helping dry wet fields and break up ice locked lakes and streams.

The weather was warm, windy and wet over large sections of the northern United States today.

Rain is expected to develop in New Mexico and sweep in to the Great Lakes area through west Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Illinois today and tonight.

Motors and aircraft continued lower while most other major groups were mixed.

U. S. Steel spurted more than a point before trimming the gain.

Texas Instruments spurted about 4 points and Motorola more than 2. Radio Corp. was up more than a point.

Polaroid jumped 4 points. Eastman Kodak recouped more than a point of recent losses.

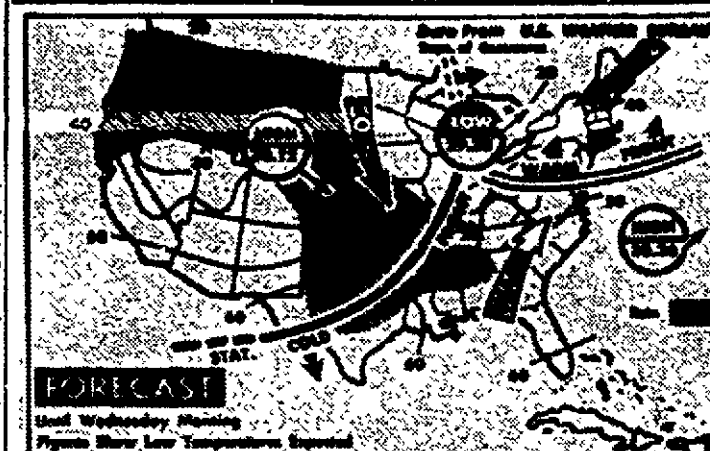

Liggett and Myers, which has been depressed because of a court suit, rebounded more than a point.

Austin Straubel Port Seen as Helicopter Service Junction

Feeder Planes Would Serve a 50-Mile Radius, Report States

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Austin Straubel field is destined to become one of five junction points in Wisconsin to which helicopters or small planes will bring passengers from smaller fields within a 50-mile radius for flights non-stop to other junction points.

An estimated $1,672,630 will have to be spent in the next 20 years to provide facilities for the growth of aviation at the field.

These are among the long range forecasts in a report prepared for the Brown county board airport committee by Foth and Porath, Inc., consulting engineers. The report was prepared in response to a February board request for estimates of capital needs for all county departments and will be distributed to board members April 19.

Feeder Planes
The report predicts a radical change in the route plan of North Central Airlines in the next 20 years to result in the system of feeding passengers to "junction" airports by helicopter or similar aircraft.

"The flights from the junction points to the other junction points and into the terminals of Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and Minneapolis would be operated with non-stop larger planes. This type of operation would provide the fastest, most reliable and most frequent service for all communities and at the same time the need for development of major airport facilities in smaller communities would be reduced," the report says.

Major Function
"There is no question that Austin Straubel field would be one of the major function points under such an operational system because of its favorable location and because of its existing aviation facilities, which will provide the safest possible airplane operations in all weather conditions," the committee was told.

Estimated expenditures of $1,672,630 in the next 20 years compare with $2,692,988 which has been spent since 1947. The latter has been divided among $1,324,933 furnished by the federal government, $1,214,743 of Brown county money, and $154,211 in appropriations by the state.

In comparison to 32,549 Straubel field passengers last year, the report predicts 90,000 in 1970 with similar growth in air mail cargo, air express and air freight. While there are 27 private planes based at the field now, the report predicted a total of 90 by 1985.

Straubel field's total of 9,620 airline flights last year compared with 1,308 in 1949. The 32,549 passengers of 1959 compared with 1,725 in 1949. Does Straubel field have the space to extend runways for the higher landing speed and larger turboprop and jet airplanes?

The report said the 5,200-foot northeast-southwest runway, which soon will be an instrument landing runway, could be lengthened to 7,000 feet on county owned land. The north-south, 4,200-foot runway could be extended to 5,200 feet on county owned land. The 3,200-foot northwest-southwest runway could be extended to 5,200 feet on county land or to 10,000 feet without closing any roads if more land were bought.

New Terminal
If the weather bureau keeps its plan to move to a separate building by 1961 the report said the existing passenger terminal and administration building would be adequate for the next five years. A $540,000 terminal at the head of the present entrance road is seen for the period between 1965 and 1970.

The master plan also envisions an adjoining light industrial area which requires airport proximity, a motel and shopping center strip across County Trunk GG from the field and a park area along the other side of GG.

Scott Paper company awarded a contract to Wigton-Abbott corporation, Plainfield, N. J., for construction of a new research center adjacent to the Philadelphia International airport.

The head of a big pulp and paper producer asserted that pulpwood prices seem likely to rise in the near future. Sture G. He said plans for an expansion of the company's plants here are predicted on the price outlook. Two surveys looking toward plant enlargement have been completed, he added, but no starting date has been set.

4-Point Report System Presented

Written Reports, Conferences With Pupils' Parents Suggested

A written recommendation for a 4-point yearly progress report program for Appleton elementary schools was presented to the board of education Monday. The 10-member parent-teacher committee which has studied the reporting system will appear before the board next month.

The four points recommended include two conferences and two written reports:

1. A conference early in September, held during a 4-day period of early school dismissal. The teacher would meet with groups of parents on three days and have private conferences with some parents the fourth day.

The teacher and parents would discuss plans and objectives, how parents can help the children, general procedures, policies and parent questions.

2. A written report for the parents and child. Late in November, stating briefly the outstanding strengths or weaknesses of the child in each subject area and whether the child is working above or below or at the level for his age. A check would show whether the child is working up to his ability. There would be a variation in the report form for beginning primary students.

3. An 8-day period at about mid-year for individual parent-teacher conferences, at which more specific matters regarding academic achievement, social growth and emotional status of the child would be discussed. Parents also could discuss the previous written report.

Second Written Report. 4. A second section of the written report, for the parents and child, in April, at about the third 8-week period, stating briefly the progress made in each area. Provision would be made for special conferences which may be requested by parents or teacher at times other than regularly scheduled conferences.

Apparent advantages of the 4-point program, the committee wrote, include:

1. Less school time taken for conferences — 12 days of early dismissal instead of the present 16.

Short, Clear Reports. 2. Short, clear written reports, aimed at better understanding of the child's academic growth.

3. Written report planned for both parents and child.

4. Social and emotional growth can be better discussed at an individual conference than in a written report.

5. Four scheduled contacts between school and parent instead of the present three. The timing of these also would be improved.

6. The exchange of ideas in the small group conference would promote better home-school relations.

Ask Trial Period

Members of the committee, which has met bi-weekly since September, are James N. Retson, Huntley school principal; chairman; Miss Helen Sweet, Washington school principal; Miss Marie Turritt, Franklin school intermediate teacher; Miss Lois Smith, of the reading service department; Richard F. Haas, Richmond school intermediate teacher; James E. Murphy, Franklin school principal; and Mrs. Pearl Cox, Mrs. W. T. Dykema, Mrs. Richard Baker and Mrs. Bruce Purdy, parents.

They recommended that the 4-point program be used on a trial basis next school year.

Rental Fee for Auditorium to Be Refunded

School Board Plans Study of Policies On Buildings Use

The Appleton Education association will be refunded the $100 rental fee for its use of the Appleton High school auditorium Feb. 17, the board of education has decided. The board asked its business affairs committee to study the whole question of building use and rental policy.

The AEA had requested that the rental fee be waived for the Feb. 17 program because the association at first did not realize rent would be charged for an admission event and because the association lost money.

The AEA is a quasi-school organization, Supt. John P. Mann said, and its programs have aided public relations for the schools. Two years ago, the board refused to waive the rental fee for the Appleton Shrine club, which Mann said was not a quasi-school organization even though it takes school children to the Shrine circus each year.

Others Use Buildings. The school buildings are used by a number of organizations, including the recreation department, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, band mothers, TOPS (take off pounds sensibly) club and the city, which uses them for voting and for training election workers.

The recreation department is charged at cost; any group charging admission is charged a rental fee, and educational groups are allowed to use the building without cost. The TOPS club was given permission to use the buildings without cost, board member Mrs. Myrl Davis said, because the board was convinced it was an educational group. "There's no recreation about taking off weight," she commented.

In refunding the Appleton Education association's rental fee, the board pointed out that the action should not be considered a precedent.

School Board to Purchase Italian, American Machines

The question of what kind of typewriters to buy for Appleton High school involved the board of education in a discussion of international trade Monday.

The board decided to buy 10 American-made Underwood typewriters and 10 Italian-made Olivetti machines, as business affairs Director William R. Knuth recommended.

Board president Edward V. Krueger asked whether it would hurt the American economy to buy foreign-made products.

Take Low Bids. Board member A. Neil McLeod, an economist with the Institute of Paper Chemistry, answered that to protect Appleton taxpayers, the board should take the lowest bid on adequate goods. Opening up foreign trade may enable the U.S. to cut down on foreign aid, he added.

The board had bids on four U.S. typewriters, Underwood, Royal, Smith - Corona and Remington, and on the Olivetti, the Swiss Hermes and the German Olympia. Ther Hermes, Olivetti, Olympia and Underwood were lowest in

Castro Refuses to Return U. S. Fliers

Washington — Fidel Castro's Cuban government has rejected an American plea to return two American fliers who were shot down in Cuba after a sneak flight from Florida.

The state department, disclosing this Monday, announced also its own rejection of three Cuban protests on other matters.

At the time the two fliers were arrested, Cuba said they were trying to spirit out of the country a former agent of Dictator Fulgencio Batista, who was deposed by Castro's revolution.

U. S. authorities later said, however, that they obtained a statement from one of the American fliers, William J. Schergales, 34, that Castro's regime cooked up the flight to embarrass the United States.

Cuba's refusal to return the men heightened Washington suspicions in this score. Cuba said Schergales and Howard Rundquist, 33, are subject to Cuban court action for a crime against Cuba.

Board Asks City for Two New School Sites

Has Options on Eight and 10-Acre Plots On Forest Street and North of Highway Z

The Appleton board of education will ask the city council for two elementary school sites southeast of the city.

The board has an option on a 500 by 870-foot site on the south side of Forest street one block east of Matthias street and one on a 500 by 697-foot site north of County Trunk Z, between Appleton and Kimberly.

Southern School First. A building on the Forest street site, owned by Matt M. Schaefer, should receive first priority, Supt. John P. Mann told the board. An addition of eight classrooms and a library will be needed soon on the Foster school on the south side, he added.

The 10-acre Schaefer property will cost $2,500 an acre. There will be streets along the east, north and west sides of the school land. The elevation is good, business affairs committee chairman Victor Sumnicht said.

The 8-acre site to the north, owned by Land Associates, Inc., will cost $1,700 an acre.

Summer Typing Class for Eighth Graders Offered

The board of education authorized Supt. John P. Mann to hire a typing teacher for four weeks in August to teach two classes of eighth graders.

The classes will offer no credit, Mann said. Students from public and parochial schools who have completed eighth grade may take the courses, as can ninth graders.

Huntley Inspection

The board of education will inspect the new Daniel Huntley school at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Superintendent Search Goes On

Board to Interview More Applicants at National Convention

Six of the seven members of the Appleton board of education will attend the National School Boards association's convention in Chicago April 24 to 27, but the convention sessions are not the main attraction.

The board plans to interview applicants for the job of Appleton superintendent of schools.

Six applicants already have been interviewed, and the board expects to speak with another six by the end of the convention. The names of about 50 possible superintendents have been suggested to the board.

Mann to Retire. The present superintendent, John P. Mann, will retire Jan.

Between 7,000 and 8,000 school board members from the 50 states are expected to attend the convention, which has as a theme, "Education for World Leadership." Among the speakers will be William F. Quinn, governor of Hawaii; Rudolph F. Bannow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers; and R. S. S. Gunewardene, ambassador from Ceylon to the United States.

British Appoint New Ambassador to France

London — Sir Pierson Dixon, Britain's permanent delegate to the UN, today was named to replace Sir Gladwyn Jebb, who retires soon and becomes a baron. Dixon also succeeded Jebb at the UN post when the latter was shifted to Paris.
